Italy Claims It Won Victory In Naval Battle

Fascists Say Two of Enemy Ships Damaged

Report Contrasts With British Story That Italians Fled From Attacks By Royal Navy; Accounts of Greek Fighting Vary.

(By Associated Press)

Premier Mussolini's high command claimed victory today in a new version of yesterday's naval battle in the Mediterranean, asserting that the British fleet—not the Italian—"steamed rapidly away."

This belated account contrasted with the British admiralty's description more than 12 hours earlier which said that the engagement was fought at extreme range and that the Fascist fleet immediately "retired at high speed."

The Italian report said two British cruisers were "damaged for certain" in the shelling and three other British men o' war—a battleship, an aircraft carrier and a cruiser—were hit by bombs dropped by Italian warplanes in a follow-up attack. The battle occurred south of Sardinia, the communique said.

A fire was started on the British battleship, the Fascist high command said, adding that only one Fascist ship was damaged.

"An enemy projectile hit our cruiser Fiume, but failed to explode," the Italian communique said. "Our destroyer Lanciere was seriously hit and has been towed to base."

The Rome communique also reported that Italian troops of the 11th army fighting in the 32-day-old war with Greece "set loose counter-attacks at various points which were crowned with success."

Again, this conflicted with the Greek description of the campaign, which said Greek fighters had smashed Italian resistance on the southern front after a battle that raged four days and four nights.

A Greek government spokesman said the Greek counter-offensive into Albania had taken the initiative generally and now was driving ahead "with the same speed which has marked the attack of recent days."

troops were unofficially reported to be fighting today for control of the important heights of Ostrovista on the road to the Italian base of Elbasan on he north Albanian war front.

Hand-to-hand fighting was said to be in progress around the peak, but Italian resistance appeared to have stiffened sharply on both the north and south fronts.

Official secrecy and censorship obscured details of front line developments as the Greek forces appeared to be encountering new and stronger enemy positions.

(At Rome is was said that hundreds of Italian airplanes were supporting counter-attacks on land and also were bombing behind the Greek lines.)

Whether the Greeks held Pogradec was uncertain, although it had been reported previously that

BRUNT: Plymouth Heavily Attacked By Nazi Raiders

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Plymouth, important southwest port and naval station of England, bore the brunt of a German air bombardment overnight, DNB, official German news agency, reported today, and daylight reconnaissance showed that its rail connection with London was broken, at least temporarily.

DNB said that reconnaissance planes, sent back by daylight because poor visibility hampered night observation, found that naval and other warehouses in the harbor district were destroyed and the facilities of the great western railway "extensively damaged."

More than 100 planes emptied their bomb racks on Plymouth, informed sources declared. They carried numerous incendiary bombs among their explosives.

The high command left it to others to report the Plymouth raid. Its daily communique listed only bombardments of London, Avonmouth, Grimsby, Great Driffield, and a Scottish arms plant.

Attacking the factory near Burntisland, on the Firth of Forth, one Nazi battleplane was said to have scored two direct hits.

ANARCHY: Rumanian Premier Attempts to Check Violence

BULLETIN

BUCHAREST, Rumania—(U.P.)—German troops were brought into the capital today from Pitesci, 65 miles away, to help protect the city as the Iron Guard purge of former members of King Carol's regime continued with the assassination of former Premier Nicolai Jorga.

(By Associated Press)

BUDAPEST—Rumanian Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu struggled today to check possible anarchy in his new Iron Guard state as self-appointed execution squads of green shirted guardists were reported threatening the lives of every political enemy in Rumania.

The outburst of vengeance in which at least 64 Rumanians met violent death yesterday, including generals and cabinet ministers under King Carol, was said to have touched off a virtual reign of terror. Both Antonescu and Vice Premier Horia Sima, leader of the pro-Nazi guard, pleaded for "legality, justice and order."

These reports slipped past a screen of censorship:

The blood purge, started by a rebellious wing of the Iron Guard "legionary movement," struck down not only those incarcerated in Jilava prison but numerous politicians who never were arrested.

Only prompt government protection saved former Premiers Gheorghe Tartarescu and Ion Gigurtu and former War Minister Gen. Gheorghe Hasievici from assassination.

Antonescu himself is considering resigning if extremist guardists cannot be restrained.

Antonescu issued a decree providing severe penalties for "violation of personal liberty" and fixing

ICY STREETS STALL SCORES OF CARS HERE

20 Collisions Reported In 12-Hour Period; Mercury Down To 16 Degrees.

AMONG COLDEST IN STATE

Crews Work Throughout Night Spreading Cinders on Slippery Pavements.

Highways in the Mansfield area were sheathed in an icy armor and temperatures fell to the lowest mark of the new season today as winter tightened its grip on the state.

The slippery roads, general throughout Ohio, caused scores of accidents in and near the city last night and this morning and the state highway department and county and city forces sent out salt and cinder trucks.

Cinder crews worked throughout the night and although all roads were passable today the state highway patrol reported hazardous driving conditions, especially in the northern part of the state.

Mansfield was one of the coldest spots in Ohio last night, a reading of 19 degrees reported at Hayesville while the weatherman's thermometer recorded 16 degrees in the city to set the season's low mark.

Cloudy skies and slightly warmer tonight was the forecast today, accompanied by snow flurries. Only a slight temperature rise was predicted for tomorrow as more snow was in the offing, the weatherman said.

The temperature reading at noon today was 21, nine degrees below yesterday's high of 30.

Temperatures of 13 to 15 were common around Lima and in Van Wert and Paulding counties—lowest marks of the season. The mercury tarried around 23 in Cleveland, and sluggishly climbed to 24 at Columbus and Cambridge. The southern portion of the state was only slightly warmer with Cincinnati recording 27 degrees.

Countless motorists homeward-bound from work yesterday evening were stalled in long lines on Mansfield streets before salt and cinders crews got out. Autos

Grand Jurors To Conclude Session Today.

Although behind schedule with the examination of witnesses, the Richland county grand jury was expected to complete its session late today and submit its report to Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

The jury was scheduled today to investigate the alleged circulation of copies of official party ballots as samples for County Recorder Howard Wenning as a candidate for clerk of courts before the Nov. 5 election.

Wenning, Arliss F. Porter, former clerk of the election board, and others were to testify today during the probe.

The jury had 24 cases on the docket, including several to be submitted to Prosecutor G. W. Marriott for secret indictments. The jury session, first in the September court term, opened yesterday morning.

Mayor to Ask Council O. K. on Leasing of Free Parking Lots

Another step in carrying out the recommendations of the Citizens' Committee on Traffic will get under way next week when Mayor W. J. Locke asks city council to approve the leasing of two free parking lots close to the down town section.

Locke said the city had opportunity to rent for nominal sums two big parking lots, but that nothing could be done until council has approved such action.

One of the lots is owned by Carl H. Stander. It measures 180 by 180 feet and is located at the south end of Walnut street. Stander is grading the lot and will cinder it if the city decides to use it. He has asked a rental of $25 a month during the time the new parking meters are being paid for out of revenue from the meters, and after that $50 a month.

The second lot of similar size is on the south side of West Second street, east of Sturges avenue. It has been occupied during the summers by the Madge Kinsey Players. Its owner, who resides in Florida, asks a dollar a day for use of the lot.

Locke said today that the parking lots are needed for parking autos of down town workers who can no longer park all day in the down town district because of the new parking meters.

The mayor said he would also ask council at its meeting Tues-

Figures In $700 Hold-Up of Mansfield Loan Company

Four bandits walked into the Colonial Finance company on West Third street, shortly before noon today, locked three employes in a back room and looted the cash drawers of an estimated $700. At the left above is Mrs. Mary Alice Cartnal, West Third street, a clerk who related following the hold-up that the leader of the gang shoved her a chair when he suspected that she was going to faint. At the right above is L. H. Jones, assistant manager, inspecting the ransacked office safe. Below is an exterior view of the downtown office.

DIES SUMMONED TO CONFERENCE

'Red' Paper Issued as FDR Presses Action For Future Policy.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A bulky documented handbook devoted exclusively to Communism came from the house committee on unAmerican activities today as Chairman Dies (D.-Tex.) sped back here for a policy conference with President Roosevelt.

Dubbed "the red paper" by the committee, the 938-page compilation of alleged Communist statements, pamphlets, speeches and newspaper and pamphlet excerpts, set forth how party members should oppose what were termed "imperialistic wars," primarily by domestic propaganda and by "hindering the execution of orders for belligerent countries."

The report, issued last night, followed by one week of "white paper" evidence on German activities in the United States. But the two were in sharp contrast. The German "paper" enumerated dozens of alleged propaganda and BOSTON—(U.P.)—Led by New England, 16 states celebrated Thanksgiving today, the traditional last Thursday of the month.

The other 32 states marked the holiday last Thursday, the early Thanksgiving proclaimed by the president.

Other states celebrating today included Pennsylvania, Tennessee, North Carolina, Florida, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota and Nevada.

UNIONIST HELD

Business Agent Indicted In Bombings at Akron.

AKRON—(U.P.)—Harry D. Jones, Akron business agent for the operating engineers' union, and Tilford Floyd, Waynesburg, power shovel operator and member of the union, were under indictment today, charged with responsibility for three recent bombings here.

A confession allegedly signed by Floyd named Jones as having hired him and his brother, Robert, to do the bombings. Jones was indicted of three counts of malicious damage to property by the Summit county grand jury yesterday. Conviction would carry one to seven years imprisonment on each count.

BRITISH ORDER CARGO VESSELS

Wants $40,000,000 Worth of Ships In 18 Months.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Great Britain has completed arrangements for American shipyards to build 60 cargo vessels of 8,500 tons each at a total cost of about $40,000,000, and is negotiating to double the order, it was learned today.

The British will pay cash for the boats, of turbine construction with standardized and interchangeable parts. Great Britain hopes most of the boats will be turned out in the record time of 18 months.

HUNT FOR BODY

Marblehead Harbor Dragged For A. T. T. President's Brother.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass.—(INS)—Police today dragged Marblehead harbor for the body of Morris T. Gifford, 48, of Salem, brother of Walter T. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, after his water-soaked hat was found floating in the water off Marblehead neck.

County Red Cross Asked to Make Up 113,000 Dressings

The Richland county chapter of Red Cross today had been asked to take part in the national defense program by making up a quota of 96,000 surgical dressings for the war department.

The request came on the heels of an earlier quota for dressings received from national headquarters and which asks 17,000 additional dressings for use in England's war hospitals. This makes a total of 113,000 dressings to be made by volunteer labor in Mansfield and Richland county.

The request from the war department explains that in the industrial survey on national defense resources, it was found that in case of war or any great emergency the manufacturers of surgical dressings in this country could turn out only 10 per cent of the materials needed, and the war department is asking the Red Cross to supply the remaining 90 per cent.

The dressings will be kept in storage for emergencies and to meet the need arising from increased personnel in the federal army.

CANCELS SOS

Liner Crew Pumps Water From Hold; Continues Voyage.

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—The liner Panamanian, bound for Yokohama from Central American ports, today cancelled a distress call after earlier reporting that her hold was filling with water and she was listing badly.

The ship had righted itself after the holds were pumped of water and need of assistance had passed, the Panamanian radioed.

Six From Mansfield Receive Approval In Physical Tests at Columbus.

The six young men Richland county sent to Columbus Tuesday as the county's first contingent under the selective service law passed their physical examinations and were ready to go to camp today, according to telegrams to parents of two of the boys.

The final physical examination at the induction station (Columbus) is a rigid one and often eliminates youths who have passed their county tests. It was reported here that the youths will be assigned to Camp Shelby, Miss.

In the group from here were Fred L. Martin, George J. Lump, Dale L. Lutz, Howard C. Ripper, David H. Boals, and James G. Kondos, all of Mansfield. All of them were volunteers and were sent from draft districts 1 and 2.

Board No. 3, which was unable to get its three men ready to leave with the others Tuesday, had 11 men today from whom to choose three. Ten of them were to be

SWANKY LONDON HOTELS BOMBED

Savoy and Carlton Damaged In Recent Nazi Raids.

LONDON—(INS)—Two of London's swankiest hotels, the internationally-famous Savoy and the Carlton, have been damaged in recent German air raids, it was officially disclosed today.

The Savoy on the Strand, one of the world's most modern hotels and long known as the gathering place of the wealthy, was equipped with the best "night club" shelter in the British capital.

The Carlton, located on Carlton place, is within a block of the famous Pall Mall and only a short distance from the admiralty and other government buildings.

LOCK UP THREE EMPLOYES, GET LOOT AND FLEE

4 Unmasked Gunmen Stage Hold-up at Colonial Finance, Menace Workers.

POLICE SET UP BLOCKADE

City, County, State Officers Patrol Highways In Hunt For Bandits.

Four unmasked bandits strode into the West Third street office of the Colonial Finance company shortly after 11 a. m. today, herded three employes into a back room and fled with between $700 and $800 in cash.

L. H. Jones, 343 Bartley avenue, assistant manager, said all four were well dressed and about 35 years old.

Two of the men flashed guns as they came around the end of the counter into the office, while the other two, who entered the front door only a few seconds later, stood at the cash windows, one near the front of the building and the other at the rear.

The three employes were locked in the back room while the men, all of whom wore gloves, rifled the cash drawers and safe and made their get away.

Mansfield police, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies established blockades on all highways leading out of the city soon after employes of the office got out of the locked room through a basement corridor and phoned police.

Officers were handicapped in their search for the quartet. They made their getaway in an automobile, police presumed, but officers could not obtain a description of the car. They were unable to establish contact with anyone who may have seen them dash away.

H. A. Westervelt, manager, who was not in the office at the time of the robbery but who arrived shortly afterward estimated the loot at "between $700 and $800."

The first pair of gunmen to enter the office walked up to a desk where Mrs. Mary Alice Cartnal, West Third street, a clerk, was typing.

As I looked up he threw back his coat and flourished a gun," she related.

"This is a stick-up. And it's no joke," she said the bandit told her as he pointed the gun at Jones who stood nearby.

"I thought he said 'hello there, Mrs. Jones,'" Mrs. Dolores Knott, 16 Glenbeck lane, another clerk, related."

LAVAL VISIT

Berlin Expects Frenchman to Confer With Hitler.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Vice Premier Pierre Laval of France is expected in Germany soon, private quarters understood today.

Authorized German sources said they had "heard nothing" of reports that Laval was already en route to Germany, presumably for a conference with Adolf Hitler.

However, informed sources said that a Laval visit was "naturally not out of the question" and private quarters added that the French premier was expected here. It was not known, however, exactly when he would arrive or whether he would come to Berlin.

NEW STORAGE PLAN TESTED

Modified Atmosphere Method For Preservation of Fruit Tried.

LOCKPORT, N. Y.—(U P)—A Lockport fruit producer is experimenting with a new modified atmosphere fruit storage system. It is said to be the most revolutionary advance in the preservation of food since the advent of quick freezing a decade ago.

The fruit grower, John A. Hall, has 2,000 bushels of McIntosh apples sealed hermetically in a steel-lined room. They will be kept there until summer—far beyond the ordinary storage limit for McIntosh—and when they are brought out Hall hopes them to have all the quality, freshness and flavor of newly-picked fruit.

The method, a recent British innovation, hinges on the discovery that carbon dioxide given off by fruit acts as a preservative. The room is air-tight to prevent carbon dioxide gas to escape.

The room temperature is kept at 40 degrees instead of the conventional 32, and a high degree of humidity is maintained so the fruit will not shrink.

Circulating instruments regulate the amount of oxygen allowing the amount of carbon dioxide to increase gradually. Cornell University has experimented with the new method for a year and is said to have preserved apples for months beyond their ordinary limit.

Boy Plays With Car-Door Handle; Three Fall Out

SANTA FE, N. M.—(INS)—Things really happened when three-year-old Sando Kalanges defied his mother's warnings not to play with the handle of the car door as they were riding along the highway near Santa Fe.

Between Santa Fe and Espanola Sando pulled the car door handle down. The door flew open and Sando fell out.

His mother, Mrs. Alex Kalanges tried to catch him, and she fell out. Mrs. James Dakos, a friend, tried to stop Mrs. Kalanges and—you've guessed it—she fell out.

Sando and his two would-be rescuers were taken to a Santa Fe hospital. The women suffered serious injuries. Sando was only scratched.

LIVES SAVED

New Treatment For Childbed Fever Described.

BOSTON.—(INS)—Sulfanilamide and blood transfusions both are used in a new technique for treating childbed fever, as described by Dr. Charles A. Janeway, Boston, at exercises commemorating the 108th anniversary of the Boston Lying-In-Hospital.

He said the new treatment already has "saved the lives of many women who would have died."

Dr. Janeway explained that although the sulfanilamide does not kill the germs it does prevent them from multiplying, while transfused blood enables patients to use their own white corpuscles to destroy the bacteria.

The doctor was one of many nationally prominent obstetricians presenting papers at the exercises.

STEEL BUYING HELPS TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Aircrafts, Rails Among Better Performers; Some Issues Slip on Wavering Mart.

NEW YORK—Mild buying helped steady another wavering stock market today.

Among the better early performers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, Boeing, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central and Great Northern.

On the offside at one time or another were Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Consolidated Edison, Texas corporation and Chesapeake & Ohio.

A crumb of market comfort was found in the Dun & Bradstreet compilation disclosing bank clearings in 23 principal cities for the short holiday week ended Nov. 27, while substantially under the previous week, topped the comparable period last year by 12.3 per cent.

Exemplification of the economic strides of the past several months was seen in the survey of the national industrial conference board indicating new orders booked by manufacturers in October were 12 per cent above September at a record peak.

Gala Premiere to Be Arranged for Opening of Play

With the opening at 9 a. m. tomorrow of the reserved seat board for the premiere of the Louis Bromfield-George Hawkins comedy "Here Today, Gone Tomorrow," by the all-amateur cast of the Mansfield Community Players, plans were being made to make it a gala occasion.

The play will be presented two nights, Tuesday and Wednesday, but the first night will be the big occasion, according to officials of the players. Flood lights will light the entrance to John Simpson Junior high auditorium, there will be a number of out-of-town guests and Laurence Todd, director of the Players orchestra, is rehearsing a special program.

The two songs which were written by Arthur Cook of Cleveland for the Bromfield-Hawkins play, will be featured on the program with Jane Weuthrick as soloist. The songs are "Farewell To Love," and "Here Today, Gone Tomorrow."

Theater critics and reviewers are expected from Cleveland, Akron, Dayton, Columbus and a number of smaller towns in this district.

The seat board will be open tomorrow only for holders of season tickets. Single admissions may be reserved Saturday at Tawse's Pharmacy.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's good to find a girl who hasn't forgotten.

She's Doris Davenport—the extra who made good. You probably saw her opposite Gary Cooper in "The Westerner." If you live in Dallas or Fort Worth, Tex., you may have seen her at premieres there, taking bows and handing out autographs and being treated like an established celebrity. If you live in Hollywood, you have seen girls lose their heads over getting half the attention she's had.

And yet today, if you want to get Doris Davenport excited, just ask her about extras in general—and their acting ability.

"It makes me wild," she says, "to see the studios going everywhere to look for talent—except right here at home. I know a lot of extras who can act, a lot of girls who are as pretty and capable as 85 per cent of those they bring from New York. But nobody can see them. One thing all the New York girls have is confidence—and Hollywood takes all the confidence away from its own girls."

DORIS started, at 15, in the chorus of Eddie Cantor's "Kid Millions" at Goldwyn's. Cantor picked her from the line for a bit, and later she got a job in stock at Metro. She was there two years, playing bits and walkons as a glorified extra. And then she left Hollywood in disgust for New York and a job as a John Powers model.

Within two weeks she had offers to return to Hollywood but she declined. Within seven months, however, she was being tested for the role of Scarlett O'Hara. She had assumed the name of Doris Jordan, sure that Hollywood would lose interest if it learned she had once been an extra. When Selznick asked her to come to Hollywood for further tests, she pretended to know nothing of the city, to be unable to find her way to the studio—and then walked on a test stage where the crew was from Metro, all old friends.

"THEY were swell," she says. "As soon as I took one of them aside and explained I was trying to put something over, he spread the word around and not one acted as if he'd ever seen me before."

They liked the test, but then Vivien Leigh appeared on the scene. At Goldwyn's she had better luck, for he had seen her Scarlett test and turned her over to William Wyler for tests for "The Westerner."

"Mr. Wyler really took pains with that test," says Doris. "So many tests aren't fair. Getting a good director for your test is so important."

It was after the picture started that Doris' identity was revealed. Goldwyn didn't care. Today she's on her second film, opposite Lloyd Nolan in "Behind the News" at Republic.

"And if I find myself stymied in Hollywood again," she vows "I'm going right back to New York. That's where they look for talent with their eyes open."

WINS 1ST PLACE

Fredericktown Girl, 11, Cops Top Honors at Show.

Competing with more than 200 boys and girls and 50 adults who entered livestock in the 16th annual livestock show at the Cleveland Union stockyards, Myfanwy Lintner, 11-year-old Fredericktown girl, took first place yesterday with one of her lambs.

The first place award was a silver cup. The little girl won fifth place with a pen of three lambs in last year's show.

Principal speaker at the banquet for contestants last night was Novelist Louis Bromfield who advised the young people to "stick to the farm and don't let anything get you away from it.

"The best future for American youth," Bromfield said, "lies on the farm. With your own soil under foot, you can't go wrong."

The Lintner girl, who is the oldest of four children, has her own formula for raising champion lambs.

"You must feed and water them at the same time each day and give them just the right amount of food," she said. "Then you want to teach them to lead before show time so they won't be frightened."

DECORATIONS READY

$40 'NEW' CAR

DETROIT —(INS)— An unused 1924 model automobile, so well maintained that its buyer says it is "as good as the day it was built" to sell for $1,685, recently went to the highest bidder for $40, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association. Modern cars selling for less than half of that one's original price can run rings around it, the association declared.

CIVIL SERVICE CHANGES URGED

Ohio League of Women Voters Asks Reorganization of State System.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—The Ohio League of Women Voters today listed a proposed reorganization of the state civil service commission at the head of the program it will urge the 94th general assembly to adopt next January.

Following a closed meeting, the league, now meeting in its biennial legislative conference, announced that it would give "active support" to a three-member commission to replace the present two-member setup.

As an alternative, the league said it would recommend a single commissioner who would be under civil service qualifications.

The league also voted "active support" to "reorganization of state and county welfare administrations in line with the Sherrill survey recommendations." It urged that county welfare activities be coordinated in one county department.

The league voted to endorse:

1. Measure strengthening the Ohio unemployment compensation law, placing the administrator under civil service.
2. Establishment of a state board of education by constitutional amendment.
3. Reduction of the 65 per cent majority vote requirement for passage of bond issues.
4. Appointment of a commission to re-codify the Ohio children's code.

DIES SUMMONED TO CONFERENCE

'Red' Paper Issued as FDR Presses Action For Future Policy.

espionage efforts in the last year, while the Russian document was based largely on doctrinarian statements which the committee attributed to Communist leaders over the last two decades.

Both "red" and "white" papers, as well as other operations of the committee, probably will be discussed thoroughly tomorrow, informed sources said, at a White House conference to which Mr. Roosevelt unexpectedly summoned Dies from his Orange, Tex., home.

The invitation went forward almost simultaneously with a telegram in which the president asked the entire Dies committee yesterday not to "defeat the ends of justice" in its campaign against subversive activities by premature disclosure of "facts or of suppositions" or by hasty seizure of evidence.

For many months, Dies has been urging government agencies to proceed against those the Texan has termed "known Communists" and "known radicals." The agencies have replied that they needed concrete evidence—admissable in any court—of legal guilt and that the committee might destroy a secret investigation by publication of leading information.

The president's telegram sought to distinguish between the work of a legislative committee and that of an executive branch of the government. It remarked that administrative duties in regard to illegal activities "lie in the executive branch of the government" rather than the legislative.

Embracing 231 exhibits in its 650,000-odd words, the report began with the Communist manifesto by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, went on to dozens of statements of how the army should organize units in basic industries and wound up with statements criticizing President Roosevelt for his foreign policy.

The committee, reproducing a pamphlet, "What Is Communism?" quoted Earl Browder, party general secretary, as having said in 1936 that capitalism could be ended only by "organized actions of the working class" working with other sections of the population.

"The revolution does not simply happen; it must be made," the quotation read. "This does not imply that the Communist party 'makes' the revolution. The socialist revolution is carried out by the great masses of toilers.

"The Communist party, as the vanguard of the most conscious toilers, acts as their organizer and guide."

FASCISTS SAY TWO OF ENEMY SHIPS DAMAGED

Italians Claim Victory In Mediterranean Naval Battle Yesterday.

advance Greek units were in the town and that the Italians had fallen back.

In any event, confirmation of reports of fighting around Ostovista would mean that some Greek forces were beyond Pogradec on the road to Elbasan, headquarters of the Italian Commander, Gen. Ubaldo Soddu.

British bombing planes continued heavy attacks on Italian lines and ports on the Albanian coast, but there was no delinite indication of the trend of battle on the southern wing where the Greeks had been besieging Argyrokastron and menacing Porto Edda.

Athens Appeals To U. S. for Aid

ATHENS, Greece —(U.P.)— Constantinos Mandiadakis, minister of public safety and righthand man of Premier Jonn Metaxes, appealed to the United State for aid today.

Receiving the United Press correspondent for an interview, he said:

"We address ourselves particularly to the great, strong liberal union of the United States of America and all the peoples of the Americas, asking them to reinforce us by sending necessary materials and supplies in order to bring to a successful conclusion the great and strenuous fight we have undertaken."

There was no element of despair in his appeal. He said "the children of Socrates, Plato, and Aristophanes" were prepared to withstand any ordeal, preferred to die rather than submit.

"Premier Metaxas has resisted the impudent demands of the invader and his cal to the entire Greek race has been answered," he continued. "They have taken up arms to fight for the high ideals of liberty, freedom and civilization.

"As in the past and also now, the children of ancient Greece has resisted and will resist the barbarous invaders of today, defending not only their country, but also something higher and of greater significance, something that exceeds by far the limits of their poor country—that is, the freedom of the human race without which no true civilzation can exist."

Siamese Planes Return Raids

BANGKOK, Siam —(U.P.)— Airplanes of the Siam air force were raiding military objectives in French Indo-China today in retaliation for French raids on the Siamese town of Nakornpanom, an official announcement said.

(In Vichy yesterday the French ministry of colonies said that hostilities between Siam and Indo-China started last Saturday when Siamese forces attempted to invade the French Cambodian town of Popiet. Popiet is on the border in the area demanded from Indo-China by Siam. In additional to demanding territory in Cambodia, Siam has laid claim to Indo-China territory in the Laos district.)

An official statement said that early today and without warning five French planes swooped down on Nakornpanom and machine gunned the streets, injuring a man and a woman. Later the French planes dropped two bombs, injuring three policemen and a girl.

The retaliatory raids on Indo-China were described as "widespread" but it was emphasized that they were directed against military objectives.

Italy Expects No German Aid

ROME —(INS)— A warning that Italy must not expect German aid in her battle against Greece was sounded today by Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's paper, the Telegrafo of Leghorn.

"The Mediterranean war is to be fought by Italy alone for our own victory," he said in a broadcast.

"The Italian people must not expect this victory to be given them by German arms.

"The Axis war is not expected to supply any single, spectacular conclusive act, but merely an ever-increasing, long-term hammering at Britain in the Mediterranean.

Bulgaria Denies State of Siege

LONDON — (INS) — Reports that the Bulgarian government has been overthrown or that Bulgaria has proclaimed a state of siege were emphatically denied by the Bulgarian minister to London today. He declared that the situation in Bulgaria is "absolutely calm."

WRONG BIRDS

Hunting Dog Embarrassed, Hurt Trying to Catch Chicken.

SEDAN, Kan.—(AP)—S. P. Hurst took his six-month-old bird dog into the country for her first hunting experience.

The dog sighted some chickens and lunged out an open car window. A hip injury will keep her from hunting this season.

HEADS CHAPTER

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Mahlon Rockwell was elected chief of Bucyrus chapter of Pythian Sisters at the election of officers held Tuesday night. Mrs. Rockwell succeeds Mrs. Bertha McLeod.

Other officers who will be installed by Mrs. Frank Gorsuch, who was named installing officer are: Mrs. W. S. Davis, excellent senior; Mrs. Harold Himler, excellent junior; manager, Mrs. H. J. G. Rexroth; mistress of records, Mrs. Clayton Korner; mistress of finance, Mrs. Herman Kuebler; protector, Mrs. William Steele; guard of outer temple, Miss Minnie Scheib; pianist, Mrs. Fred Judd, and asistant pianist, Mrs. Ivan Mack. Mrs. William Fidler was named representative to the grand temple and Mrs. Mack the captain of the degree team.

ASKS PARKING LOT APPROVAL

Mayor To Request Council To Give O. K. on Free Parking, Leasing of Land.

day night to limit parking on West Fourth and West Third, between Mulberry and Bowman streets, to two and a half hours. There have been insistent demands by property owners on these streets to put a limit on parking there.

He said that if the free parking lots were available within the next 30 days, the extension of the restricted parking areas would cause no hardships.

If the free parking lots are obtained, Locke pointed out, it will be the fourth major recommendation made by the Citizens Committee on Traffic to be carried out. The recommendations, which included the installation of parking meters, one way parking on certain streets, rerouting of trucks, and free parking lots, were part of the committee's plan to solve Mansfield's parking and traffic problems.

The other major recommendation, that of widening streets, will not be considered for some time. The plan to widen North and South Park three feet was abandoned when it was found that the additional space would mean nothing in solving congestion, since it was not enough to provide an additional traffic lane. Considerable space has been saved on these two streets by instituting parallel parking instead of angle parking.

A sum of $700 allocated by city council some time ago for widening these two streets was returned to the general fund when the plan was abandoned, Locke said.

FEAR ANARCHY FOR RUMANIA

Premier Attempts to Check Wave of Violence; Gets Aid From Nazis.

sentences up to death for thefts of public funds.

Despite the decree, however, bands of guardists were reported taking the law into their own hands and driving Jews from shops and synagogues in the Rumanian town of Braila.

Heavy guards were posted around all public buildings in Bucharest and soldiers patrolled the streets.

The whereabouts of Juliu Maniu, famed leader of the one-time national peasant party, is not known and fears are expressed for his safety. He has had a strong bodyguard since Iron Guard rule began after Carol's abdication in September.

Antonescu's efforts to cool off the Iron Guardist extremists are backed by German divisions on Rumanian soil and by Rumanian garrisons, both reported ready for instant action.

A terse government communique acknowledged the purge by bullets yesterday in Jilava prison and said the government "disapproves."

The Iron Guard, in power since it overthrew the regime of King Carol II and chased him from the country, admittedly was settling its chief political score—avenging the death of its founder, Corneliu Zelea Codreanu.

Germans Turn Against Guard

BUDAPEST — (INS) — Growing animosity of German military officials toward the Rumanian Iron Guard organization was reported in advices to Budapest today.

(Editor's Note: There was still no official indication as to whether Germany plans to use the present Rumanian crisis as an opportunity for direct German action or intervention. But today's dispatches from Budapest seemed to indicate, without actually saying so, that this is at least a possibility.)

The charging German attitude became noticeable after yesterday's massacre of 64 foes of the Iron Guard in a Rumanian military prison

Likewise it was reported that the German foreign office is "disappointed" by the trend of developments in Rumania and that the Reich now appears reluctant to establish local Nazi regimes in the southeastern European countries.

STEAK COOKER

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, Mass. —(INS)—A local record at least is the mark set by H. P. Lane, Holyoke, who with 12 assistants cooked 252 steaks in 30 minutes over charcoal fires for the annual steak roast here.

ICE ENDANGERS TRAFFIC HERE

Long Lines of Autos Stalled In Mansfield as Winter Sends Mercury Down.

"crawled" over the icy streets until late into the night.

Charles Hebel, superintendent of streets, said cinder crews went to work about 5 p. m. yesterday and worked throughout the night.

Scores of accidents were reported to the state highway patrol, sheriff's office and police, although only one person was reported injured.

City police, who investigated 20 crashes in a 12-hour period between noon yesterday and midnight said Thomas Young, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Young, 29 Reba avenue, was slightly injured near his home when struck by a car driven by John Burghard, 15 Lewis avenue.

Ice and snow was blamed for a fatal accident in Licking county last night.

Mrs. James E. Webber, 45, of Ben Avon, Pa., driving alone, was killed and two Newark women injured in a two car collision on route 16, four miles east of Pataskala.

A blanket of snow six inches deep stretched across northern Ohio but buses and trains, however, managed to maintain their schedules and airlines resumed their operations after yesterday's sleet and snowstorms had grounded many flights.

Skidding on the ice after striking another vehicle, a truck driven by Charles S. Swin, 21, of Akron hit a culvert, bounded 20 feet, and broke off two telephone poles on route 224, near Greenwich, this morning.

Highway patrolmen said that Swin attempted to pass another truck driven by Paul E. Reed, 21, of Greewich as Reed was making a left turn. Neither were injured.

Patrolmen also said that the truck driven by Swin was "completely demolished" and that live wires which fell across the highway tied up traffic on the highway this morning. Reed's truck was slightly damaged.

In an accident a mile east of Mansfield on route 30, last night, a car driven by Glen Shisler, R. D. 4, Ashland, sideswiped another vehicle driven by Emma Mihalik, R. D. 2, Lexington.

Following the accident highway patrolmen arrested Shisler on charges of drunken driving. Shisler was fined $250 and costs in municipal court this morning, with $175 suspended provided he paid for the damage to Miss Mahalik's vehicle. Damage to both cars was "considerable," patrolmen said.

Training School For Girl Scout Leaders Planned

A training school for all new Girl Scout leaders will open at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Chamber of Commerce room, it was announced today at headquarters.

There will be six two-hour lessons in the course. Meetings are scheduled for Dec. 2, 9 and 16 this year and the others will be announced after the first of the year.

Miss Eleanor Bond, executive secretary of the Girl Scouts, will be the instructor and will deal with all phases of Scout leadership.

A winter swimming program for Scouts is being worked out by Mrs. Tom Ford. The first two swimming events are one today at 3:30 and a second on Dec. 19 at Senior High school pool.

Efforts are being made to have more Scouts and leaders in the regulation Girl Scout uniform and a thrift plan for purchasing the uniforms has been worked out with the R. B. Maxwell company, agents for Girl Scout supplies in this city, Miss Bond said. Scouts may obtain their thrift cards by calling at the store.

REGISTER ALL ALIENS AT O.S.R.

Postoffice Says Registration In County Past 1,000 Mark.

Registration and fingerprinting of all aliens in the Ohio State Reformatory got under way today, as the total of aliens to register at the postoffice since Aug. 27 exceeded 1,000 yesterday.

George H. Hoover, who began registration at the O. S. R. this afternoon, estimated this morning that at least 40 of the inmates would be registered at the institution.

Inmates of the county infirmary and the Richland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium will also be registered sometime in the near future, Hoover said.

SERVICES SET FOR TEMPLE

"The Phoenix of History" will be the topic of Rabbi Myron W. Jacobs' sermon at the regular Friday evening service of the Temple Emanuel at 7:30 p. m.

The story of the Phoenix is based on an Egyptian legend from which Rabbi Jacobs will draw an analogy applicable to the history of the Jewish people.

The second meeting of the Temple Study group will be held at 8 p. m. Monday when Rabbi Jacobs will discuss "The Share Jews Had in the Discovery of America." He will also tell of the first Jewish settlement on American soil.

Inspects Looted Cash Drawer

Mrs. Dolores Knott, 16 Glenbeck lane, one of the the three employes of the Colonial Finance company, which was held up by bandits shortly before noon today. She is looking over the empty cash drawer from which the gunmen scooped about $700 and fled.

ROLL CALL IN FINAL STAGES

Workers Urged To Give Last Reports By Saturday, End of Current Drive.

Workers in the Red Cross Roll Call were urged today to complete checking their districts and make final reports by Saturday, final day of the annual membership round-up. All reports are being made at Roll Call headquarters at the Farmers bank building.

Today 9,193 members had enrolled, leaving 1,307 to go before the minimum goal of 10,500 is reached. Workers believe that figure will be reached by Saturday night. The present membership figures have brought $12,228 to the chapter treasury, a part of which goes to national headquarters.

Among concerns who have enrolled 100 per cent today are Red & White store; the Richland Electric company; Porter's Millinery; Bazley's Market; Pennsylvania Greyhound bus line; Independent Oil company; Fair Price stations; Matthews-Talmadge Oil company; Brownell Shoe company; Big Shoe company; M. L. Lehman's Meat market; West Fifth street school staff; Direct Coal company; Ohio Fuel Gas company; Woodville school staff; Lincoln Heights school staff; Madison High school staff.

TOLD OF DEATH

Husband of Former Mansfielder Dies In Massillon.

Word was received here today from Massillon of the death of Albert Hess, husband of Helen Endly Hess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Endly of Mansfield.

Mrs. Hess, who survives, had lived in Mansfield most of her life, previous to her marriage. Besides Mrs. Hess, one son, David, and two daughters, Dorothy and Miriam, survive.

GIVEN O. K. IN ARMY EXAMS

Six From Mansfield Receive Approval In Physical Tests at Columbus.

given physical examinations today and Friday. The other, Joseph Munday, jr., of Shelby was examined several days ago, but the physician's report had not been received today.

It was expected that the board's quota will be filled by the end of this week or next Monday at the latest.

James Carrigan, Mansfield, had been appointed today to the advisory board in the No. 1 district to replace C. F. Routzahn who resigned to become a member of the district appeals board for 18 north-central Ohio counties. Other members of the local advisory board are Atty. J. V. Will and Henry G. Brunner.

Atty. Will, who has been helping youths fill out their questionnaires at his office, said the board will meet tonight to set up headquarters where men can get help at specific hours during the day and evening.

Questionnaires had been mailed today to more than 1,100 men in the city and county by the three draft boards. Board No. 2 expected to have more than 500 in the hands of registrants by Friday, while the other two boards have mailed about 300 each.

When each board has mailed approximately 600 questionnaires, there will be a halt in the mailing until after Jan. 1 while the boards classify men for the second draft call, due Jan. 2 or 3.

The second call is expected to take more than 8,000 men from Ohio and from 80 to 100 from Richland county. In the future, the proportion of A-1 registrants (men available for immediate service) will be considered in determining the district quotas, draft officials said.

Draft boards throughout Ohio were notified today that 120 men are still needed to fill the first quota of 990 men which was to have been filled yesterday. The shortage was due to the removal of men who failed to pass their physical examinations at Columbus and the inability of boards to get men ready in time.

In Mansfield, board No. 2 was looking for six men whose questionnaires came back "Address unknown." Clerks pointed out that the men either had moved without leaving a forwarding address or intentionally gave an incorrect address when registering.

They added that the law makes registrants responsible for getting their questionnaires and returning them on time, regardless of where they are. The men who could not be located were Earl H. Fox, Daniel P Furey, Edward Higgins, jr., Harry W. Hanusz, Aubrey G. Faust and Anthony W. Maciejewski.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1940.

Hitler says no coalition of powers can beat him, so Britain may have to do it alone.

It is important to learn to recognize propaganda Equally important not to be afraid of it.

Because of bad weather the repaving of West Fourth street is being delayed—the WPA assumption having apparently been that there would be no winter this year.

Vultee Strike Sounds Warning

NOW that the 12-day strike at Vultee Aircraft Corporation in California has ended and work on defense contracts is being resumed, it appears that nothing was accomplished by this strike which could not have been done equally well, or better, by negotiations while work was proceeding.

The Vultee incident and its implications, however, are quite likely to speed action by congress to guard against similar occurrences in the future, insofar as vital defense production is concerned.

While the Vultee strike may or may not have been influenced by subversive activities it is accomplishing the desirable result of subjecting employes of defense industries to much closer scrutiny than had heretofore been deemed necessary, with a view to weeding out spies or potential saboteurs.

Reading of the experiences of Londoners driven every night to crowded air raid shelters, and of hardships being inflicted upon the people of England and other victims of Axis fury, it is impossible to understand the attitude of any Americans who, by word or act, would hamper production of defense equipment or reduce the volume of supplies to Great Britain.

Dissension in the ranks of labor, as well as dissension between employes and employers in defense industries had best be reserved for a more propitious time than one of national peril. The security of this nation depends on a high degree of national unity and co-operative action.

Unity calls for fair dealing between industry and labor, for a policy that neither favors nor penalizes either. It calls for an attitude on the part of both labor leaders and industrial management that will encourage frank and honest arbitration, with each understanding the problems of the other.

The great need of the hour is for production—not only to meet urgent defense needs but also to provide for the peacetime requirements of 135,000,000 people.

There must be unity if America is to survive as a free people—and no minority group should be permitted to act counter to the general welfare.

Christmas Seals Have Work To Do

EVERY eight and a half minutes, somewhere in the United States, a man, woman or child dies of tuberculosis!

But if that seems shocking, think what this dreaded disease was doing up to 1912—causing a death every three and a half minutes.

Until about thirty years ago tuberculosis held first place as a cause of deaths—now it has sunk to seventh place, with an annual toll of slightly more than 60,000.

Much of this reduction has come about through improved methods of discovery and treatment of persons in the early stages, and from better care in preventing spread of the disease which is infectious, not hereditary.

Annual sale of Christmas seals, during the past thirty-three years, has given widespread opportunity for millions of people to aid in the battle against tuberculosis in their own communities—and the use of these penny health seals on holiday greetings, letters and packages has become so common that something seems to be missing if one of them it not attached to mail arriving in December.

In Mansfield and Richland county money derived from sale of Christmas seals sustains the cost of regular clinics intended to disclose incipient cases of tuberculosis so that treatment can be given before a more serious stage is reached.

This year's goal for Richland county is $4,800—or almost a half million seals—but this averages only a few per person—with sheets of 100, or several hundred, for those who can afford a larger contribution to a very worthy cause.

Benefits of Camp Training

CAPTAIN RICHARD L. McNELLY of the national guard writes from a southern camp to his home town paper in Cleveland:

> "The training schedule is tough but the boys go at it with a vengeance, and the amount of griping is small. Thirteen weeks from now will see a bunch of green, wide-eyed youngsters molded into a cohesive and efficient artillery unit which must be able to take the field under all conditions and operate either at night or in the daytime with equal precision.
> "The hardening process is difficult and trying but there isn't one of these fellows who won't be better off when he gets through. If he doesn't get through, he'll wind up either in the hospital or on his way home, for the field service of the army will permit of only one standard—perfection."

This is reassuring. Families and friends of the new soldiers have hoped that the year of enforced absence from home and work would have compensating benefits. If they are getting strength and physically and developed mentally by working towards the army's "one high standard—perfection" they are going to come home in far better condition than they went.

Aid To Britain Near Peak

WHEN President Roosevelt says that aid to Britain is near its peak, he does not mean that it will soon begin to slack off. He merely means that it is higher than ever, and that the flow can't be much increased for some time.

But if the flow of aid to Britain can be maintained at or near its present pace for a year or two, it will mean that Britain is getting a steady stream of planes, guns, and a hundred other products now greatly needed.

The whole aim is to deliver to Britain the planes and arms she needs in greater quantity per month than the Nazis can destroy. It seems to be a race between the ruin at which the Nazis are adept and the industrial production for which the United States has a high reputation.

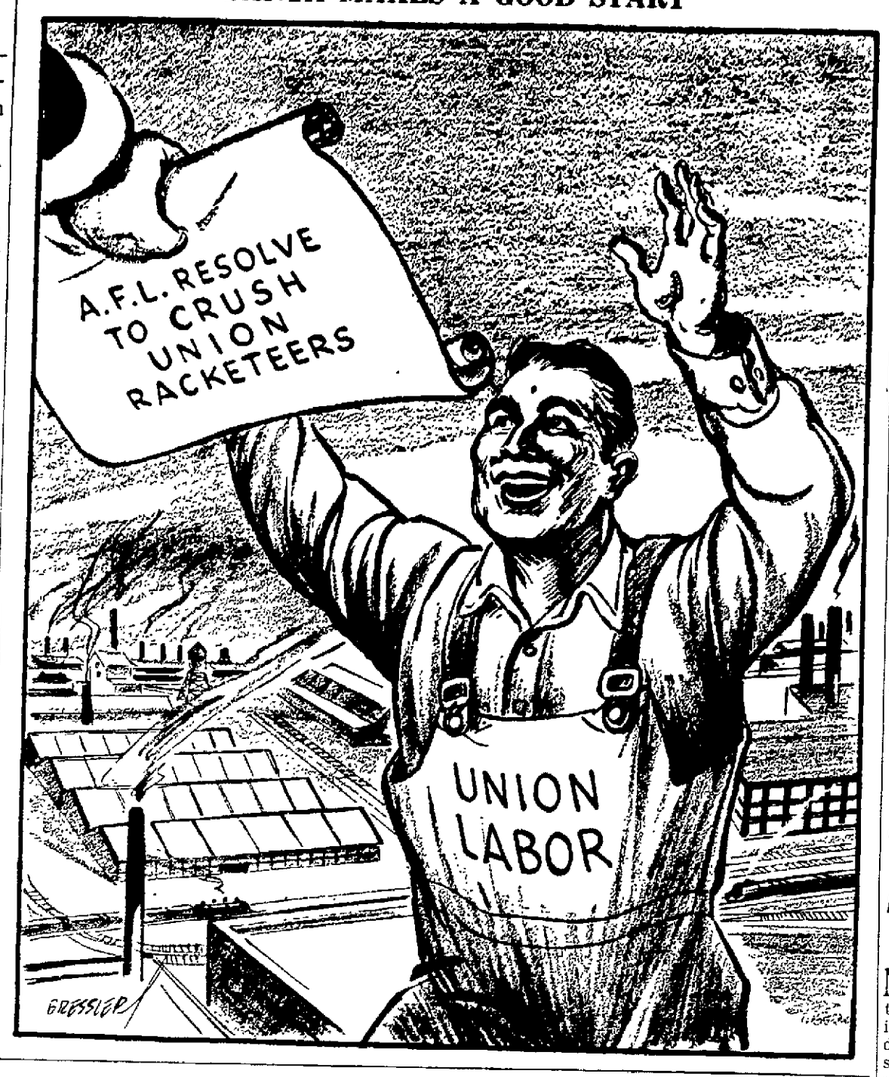
Noah Webster has not yet been awarded a place in the Hall of Fame—possibly because his best seller lacks a plot.

The suggestion is offered that, with conditions as they are, someone could make a hit by offering a course in amnesia.

Observer says only two things cause women to wear too few clothes—poverty and riches.

Civilization also should begin at home.

SANTA MAKES A GOOD START



FDR Grooming Wallace For 1944

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

APPARENTLY President Roosevelt doesn't intend to resign in Henry A. Wallace's favor, even if the present national emergency passes before his next four years are up. During the campaign it frequently was suggested that that was his plan. He behaves now, however, as if he never had had any such idea. He does act, though, exactly as if he had Henry picked to succeed him at the end of 1944. That is to say, he's at pains to give his understudy plenty of limelight—a lot more of it than a mere vice president-elect usually has turned on him.

It's rather odd, to be sure, if he doesn't want a fourth term, that he wouldn't answer a direct question on the subject, put to him at one of his press conferences. Still it's true that he previously had said the country will have another president after his 12-year White House tenancy's expiration. This wasn't quite the same as an unqualified statement that he'll refuse to be drafted again. Nevertheless, it's very characteristic of him to take umbrage at any intimation that he hasn't expressed himself altogether clearly.

Anyway, all indications are that he proposes to serve through his third four year in the executive mansion and then to have things fixed for Henry Wallace's nomination at the head of the New Deal ticket and to guarantee his election if possible. In short, he's looking ahead to 1944 already. So, doubtless, is Henry Wallace.

Willkie, Too?

And so, on the opposite side, is Wendell L. Willkie. Wendell modestly disclaimed a desire for a continuation of the campaign's Willkie clubs, but he gave every indication of a determination to build up a stronger and stronger Republican organization, and it generally is agreed that, if he's human, he aims at the party's 1944 nomination.

Wendell's in much the same sort of a Republican boat as the Democratic boat that Al Smith was in following his defeat in 1928. Al and his crew navigated their craft so competently that the Democrats sailed right into port when 1932 rolled around. They didn't sail in under Al's captaincy, however. Franklin D. Roosevelt got it away from him.

That the Republicans, with Willkie at their vessel's helm, will finish their 1940-44 voyage as gratifying to themselves as the Democrats did in 1932 doesn't necessarily follow.

The good ship G. O. P. was in hard luck throughout the entire period of Herbert Hoover's watch on the bridge. From the beginning it had a steadily rising tide of popular hostility to prohibition to buck against. And then, toward the end, it ran into the slump and depression storm. It was no wonder the trim Democratic ship sailed right by the poor, battered G. O. P. hulk as easily as it did.

This May be Different.

The coming four years may be different from the 1928-32 interval.

Business is improving at a lively clip now. Unemployment's dwindling. If this keeps up the New Deal is bound to get the credit for it. True, Wendell Willkie warns that bulging stock markets aren't real prosperity. On the contrary, he asserts that they're symptoms of fever. Perhaps it's so, but the voters aren't likely to pay much attention to such a diagnosis if we still seem to be thriving four years hence.

On the other hand, if we're simply over-stimulated temporarily by our national defensive tonic and its effects wear off ahead of 1944, Wendell will be in a position to proclaim, "I told you so."

Make the Gesture!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

A BRITISH refugee mother, penniless, widowed, fighting desperately for self-control, has asked me to reprint a story told in this column years ago.

The story concerns General John C. Fremont, "Pathfinder" of the West, while on one of his most dangerous expeditions into California.

Seeking a way through the then uncharted Rockies, Fremont had accepted a guide who claimed he knew a safe trail. As a matter of fact, he had little knowledge of the country and had volunteered through vanity. But, by the time this was discovered, they were many days from their starting point and hopelessly lost in a mountain cul-de-sac with savage storms walling them in.

General Fremont made camp as best he could, then started the long wait for rescue, of which he had little hope. Day after day, fear and monotony gnawed deeper at his men's morals. Already weakened by discouragement and a meager diet, they were soon on the verge of mutiny.

Like a wolf pack waiting for the kill, they circled close and closer around their leader . . . snarling, sulking . . . eyeing the diminishing provisions. Daily it snowed. Daily sickness and delirium made their plight more desperate.

Then sheer horror struck. Two men, despairing, went out into the storm to seek a passible exit from their trap. Only one returned—a half-mad creature who could not lift his blasted eyes above the shameful stains on shirt and bearded chin. Cannibalism! Who would be next?

One wonders what the General's thoughts were on that night as he huddled in his ragged tent. One man against a gang of maddened beasts. A small man at that, delicately built, exquisitely groomed, he had been rated a dandy, sometimes laughed at by those who did not know what steel lay beneath the tailored broadcloth. To many it seemed incredible that such fastidious gentleness should put its strength against the danger and immensity of the wilderness. Yet he had, many times and won. But now his trail seemed ended.

Quietly he put his few affairs in order, left what directions he could. This done, he wrote a farewell letter to the young wife he adored. Then, with the dawn breaking, he stepped out—faced the pack whose blood-shot eyes glared beyond him into the tent where the last food lay. No word was said. One step they took forward, then another. The General did not move. Now their breath was on him . . . the stench of their starved bodies. Another step—then death?

But death, it seemed, must wait its turn. For, while the dazed men stared, Fremont calmly filled a basin with water, took a small package from his pocket—and proceeded to wash his teeth!

One long-drawn moment, brittle as spun glass, and then the laughter broke! One small, civilized gesture had held murder at bay . . . saved rocking minds from utter savagery. Bad days were still ahead, but the crisis had passed.

Many a time lately, waiting through the dreadful nights, working through the meaningless days, trying to calm the hysteria that grips us all, I've thought of that incident. Thought how a man, with everything lost, might still win through by just making the gestures! Doing the next small job that lies at hand . . . living one minute at a time . . . steadying himself by civilized ritual until the terror lifts.

As England, God save her, is doing today!

Inviting An Accident.

They gave the Indians "firewater" and guns back in 1812. They knew those savages, half-crazed by systems filled with alcohol, would shoot down the innocents without forethought.

All the more astonishing in this year of 1940 is the trek of the hunter to a liquor store before he takes to the field. Appalling enough are the many deaths caused accidentally, by gun while the hunt is on, without aggravating this danger with drink.

Unsteady hands on a gun barrel, shaky fingers on a trigger, are bad in a hunting crowd. It has been offered in warning to the motorists: Alcohol and gasoline do not mix. Let it now be offered to the hunter: "Alcohol and gunpowder do not mix!"—Newark Advocate.

U. S. Geared to British Success, Next Congress May Permit Loans

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Toughest problem facing the next congress will be whether to open up the gates of American dollar credits to the beleaguered British.

And whether the solons on Capitol Hill want to admit it or not, real fact is that the situation existing in the country today is almost identical with that on the eve of American entrance into the first World war, as far as loans to Great Britain are concerned.

At that time—1916—J. P. Morgan and the big bankers were accused of getting us into war to protect the loans they already had made to England. Probably much more important, however, was the fact that American industry was geared to a tremendous pitch as a result of British orders, and the defeat of Britain would have brought chaos to industry.

Today, likewise, U. S. industry is so tied up with British business that depression would hit like a ton of bricks after either British defeat or the exhaustion of British funds. This, of course, is looking at the question purely from the hard-boiled material viewpoint, and without taking into consideration the widespread sympathy of the American public for the British. This, in itself, probably is sufficient to induce the lifting of the Johnson Act.

British Gold.

ACTUALLY the British will be able to order war supplies in the United States for at least six months without feeling a bit pinched. For when the war broke out, Britain's total resources which could be used in the United States (gold stocks, dollar balances, negotiable investments) totaled about five billion dollars.

British purchases during the first year of the war were $1,800,000,000, which leaves a sizeable balance on hand. However, war purchases for the current year have stepped up to such a rate that the British will have spent three billion dollars in the second 12 months of war.

This will drain British funds in the United States pretty low, but even so will by no means entirely exhaust them. For most of the huge gold flood arriving almost daily at Fort Knox, Ky., comes from the British Empire. Our gold imports from British countries alone, during the first year of the war, totaled more than three and a half billions.

This gold hoard, incidentally, is one reason why the British can be sure of our financial support—even including the repeal of the Johnson Act. For should Hitler win this war, Fort Knox's golden treasure would be useful chiefly for dentists' fillings. Gold as a basis for trade would virtually disappear.

Meanwhile, the British are taking 65 per cent of our entire exports, or four times what we ship to the entire continent of Latin America. All of which indicates how completely intertwined the American economic system now is with Britain's fate, and how entirely likely is that the next congress will permit loans to Great Britain.

Note—Certain high administration members suggest that inasmuch as Britain is our first line of defense, we should send her airplanes and other war supplies without any payment.

SOME state department diplomats secretly admire the burst against Roosevelt fired by Ferdinand L. Mayer when he resigned as American Minister to Haiti.

Mayer is a career diplomat with a distinguished record who has served under both Democratic and Republican administrations. Ordinarily career diplomats do not resign their posts when there is a change of administration, especially not such relatively insignificant posts as Minister to Haiti.

However, shortly after election, Mr. Mayer sent a fervid cable to the state department in which he said that the outcome of the November 5 balloting was not in keeping with American principles of government, so he felt it necessary to resign.

Smith added as an after-thought that he would support the "greater part" of the administration's foreign program, including aid to Britain. "Great Britain hasn't a better friend in congress than me," he declared.

"You say you favor the greater part of the New Deal foreign policy," said the reporter, "but how do you reconcile that with your vote against the conscription bill?"

"Cotton Ed" was temporarily floored by this one, but recovered. "That bill made me pretty mad," he replied. "One of my sons just married into a wealthy family and the future looked bright for him until the draft. Now he'll probably have to give up his opportunity and go off to some army camp."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—With the 1940-41 theatrical season heading into the year-end holiday season, there isn't a single, solitary serious drama on Broadway worth its salt. All the hits are musicals and comedies. The sole drama even to come close to justifying itself is "Johnny Belinda," and this gets by only because of a wonderful performance by Helen Craig. She plays the part of a girl mute whose skill at reading lines in pantomime has won the respect of critics and the public.

Aside from this we have only disappointments and dimmed hopes. This time last year Broadway had at least three dramas of a serious nature that were corkers. Veteran Broadway observers are unable to remember any season during the last 10 years when there was such a lop-sided balance as this year.

In previous seasons it was the other way round. Good plays were the rule, comedies and musicals the exception. These were the days of the "Strange Interludes," the "Ethan Fromes," the "Dodsworths." These were the days of "The Old Maid" and "Idiot's Delight," of "Rain" and "The Letter," of "The Children's Hour" and "Dead End." We had "Journey's End," "Men in White" and "Russet Mantle." We had "Good By Again," "Biography" and "End of Summer."

TO THINK of Broadway now in terms of "Dinner at Eight" or "Tonight at Eighty-Thirty" is to ask for a bone that isn't there. For various reasons the men who can write this kind of fare are away. Into their places, for the moment at least, have slipped the gag and tune boys, the book-writers and the score-composers.

It may be the war. It may be that people want to laugh. In any case, the only hits in New York are the three De Sylva musicals and a few comedies, plus the Ed Wynn and Al Jolson revues, and plus also the perennial "Hellzapoppin."

The successful comedies include "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Life With Father," "George Washington Slept Here," and a revival of "Charley's Aunt."

There are, in addition, perhaps a dozen others but they are for the most part without any of the winning and comforting merit that makes you glad you went to the theater.

A Farmer's Diary

Old Stone Fence

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

NEAR where I used to live, an old stone fence ran north and south across a rough piece of farm land. For many years the fragments of granite and native shale that came too near the surface were hauled, each fall, to the old landmark and added to its broad even top. The fence ran almost straight for a half mile, and from a distance resembled a miniature Chinese wall—but without the towers.

On one occasion I helped to move a portion of this fence—to make a gateway. It was heavy work, such as a man does but once or so in his life—and never forgets. Tall grass and weeds had grown in a narrow strip on either side. Among the tangle, wild folk had their homes. The virgin soil beneath the fence was soft and smooth, like velvet. Here were field mice nests beneath the lower stones, which when we unroofed them, sent the occupants scurrying into runways beneath the wall. We came upon a chipmunks' burrow and noticed two bins, one filled with buckwheat grains, the other full of beechnuts.

I pushed my fingers into the soil. It was pleasantly damp. Thick mats of long rootlets were everywhere, and there was a sweet wild fragrance such as no garden ever gives. Its strangeness almost startled me. Seeds of a hundred years ago had been blown against the jagged surface of that wall, and washed beneath it by rain and melting snow. I saw a bleached crown of dandelion that had never seen the light of day. Long pinkish threads of bluegrass moved outward to the edge. A spotted salamander lay beneath an upturned moist stone. Centipedes, white grubs and ants moved swiftly when I took the roof from above their sheltered winter home.

The old stone fence was the community center for wild life of that vicinity—it held more stored up food, furnished a base for more fun and frolic, than any other place about the fields. When we had moved the last of the stones away, I felt sure that I had helped open a road into the future. But for the little touch of the past that had been mine, I was grateful.

New Municipal Taxes for Relief Sought By League

NEW SOURCES OF REVENUE BEING URGED

Ohio Legislature Asked To Pave Way For Further City Taxation.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — New municipal taxes to finance relief costs through 1941 and 1942 are advocated by the Ohio League of Municipalities, made up of officials of nearly all cities in the state.

The officials in convention here passed a resolution urging the Ohio legislature to authorize cities to tap new sources of revenue other than taxes on real estate.

Delegates said this might include charges on amusements, beverages or automobiles, for example. Some said such a law might permit cities to tax almost everything levied upon by the state. Others feared it might influence curtailment of state relief funds.

The league then urged that the legislature appropriate state funds to match local relief funds "on not less than a 50-50 basis."

An overwhelming vote rejected a proposal to centralize relief administration in each county.

Another resolution advocated reduction in the vote requirements from 65 per cent to a simple majority for approval of municipal tax levies and bond issues.

The officials also asked enactment of a compulsory vehicle inspection law.

Daniel W. Hoan, liaison officer for the national defense commission, told the convention's closing session last night that military defense would impose upon municipal officials the most staggering burden they have ever had to assume.

Hoan predicted final vote in the senate within a few weeks on U. S.-Canadian construction of the St. Lawrence waterway. He said America would have to prepare to use "our inland oceans" for building naval vessels since coastal ship-building centers are chief targets of air attack.

Earl E. Hagerman, Dayton finance director, was re-elected president of the league for a third term.

their main blows on a town in southwest England and on London.

The British reported "a heavy and successful attack" on industrial Cologne and raids against German "invasion ports," Le Havre and Boulogne in conquered France and Antwerp in Belgium.

Nazi night raiders while concentrating on London and an unidentified southwest English town, also struck at scattered points reaching into southeast Scotland. But there were few casualties and little damage, a joint communique of the air and home security ministries declared.

London had an air raid alarm lasting an hour and a half shortly after dawn today.

Air Blitzkrieg Shatters Windows

A COASTAL TOWN IN SOUTHWEST ENGLAND—(U.P.)—German airplanes, flying over in waves at half hour intervals, gave this town and surrounding villages an eight hour "blitzkrieg" during the night.

The first cargo of bombs set a fire in one area which burned so furiously persons were able to read newspapers by the glow some distance away.

It was reported that nine persons were killed in one house hit by a high explosive bomb.

The raiders concentrated on the burning area, showering the vicinity with high explosive bombs.

Hundreds of bombs fell, their explosions mingling with a terrific anti-aircraft barrage. The people, generally, kept calm, however, and this morning business continued as usual.

The damage in this town, as viewed after dawn, consisted mainly in shattered windows and damaged roofs.

It was estimated that 100 to 150 planes took part in the attack.

Strip Picket Wins Strike

Stripping one garment per day, Austrian actress Gerta Rozan picketed the Loew-Lewin studio in Universal City, Hollywood, for restoration of her "big scene" which had been cut from a recent production. Down to black lace brassier and lace panties to match, she won her strike yesterday when producers draped an overcoat about her and rushed her into the studio for restoration of the scene, or a part in a new picture. She is shown here at the start of her strip act.

GET $700 AT LOAN OFFICE

Four Gunmen Lock Employes In Room, Get Loot and Make Getaway.

"I looked around and wondered at first what the men were doing behind the counter and then suddenly I realized that they meant business."

Jones said the older of the first two robbers, a well-dressed man of about 40 years, motioned the shorter one to the cash drawers while he ordered the three employes to the rear of the office, warning them to keep quiet and not sound any alarms.

He said the man who gave the orders, and apparently was the leader, did all the talking. None of the others said a word during the five minutes they were in the office.

While his companion rifled the drawers, the leader forced the employes to stand facing a rear wall.

Sighting a door he inquired where the door lead.

"I told him it was only an empty room used for storage. Jones added.

"He told us to get back in there and keep quiet, and then followed us in. He kept talking all the while."

Mrs. Cartnal said she was "just a little nervous" after peering down the barrel of the blued-steel automatic the man carried.

"I must have been terribly pale because when he herded us in the room he said:

"Here lady, if you're gonna faint take this chair," and he shoved a chair towards me and I sat down."

Mrs. Knott said she was taken unawares and followed the bandit's orders.

"I knew they meant business so I did just what they told me," she related.

"When the gunman got us in the room he wanted to know if that was all the money there was. Just what was in the cash drawers," Jones said.

Then he wanted to know about the safe.

"I told him the safe was open and that he could see for himself. Then he yelled to the short man who was cleaning out the drawers and told him to open the safe.

"We were all facing the back of the room and couldn't see what was going on but I heard the man pull out the drawers in the safe. There wasn't but a little change in the drawers."

Jones said as soon as the man shouted to his companion, he backed out of the room and locked the door.

"When I heard the key turn, I slipped the bolt on the cellar door and went down the basement steps, taking the other stairs that lead to a hallway off the main office.

"I could see that they had left and I ducked into a back room and called the police. They were here in about two minutes."

Jones then released the two clerks. He said no customers entered the office during the few minutes it took the bandits to stage the robbery.

Police were pressing their investigation this afternoon in an effort to learn if anyone outside the office had seen the bandits and could give a description of a car in which the men might have fled.

Police recalled that the same office when the Franklin Finance company was the scene of a similar daylight robbery about two years ago when a quartet of gunmen operating in the same manner, carried off loot amounting to about $500. The case has never been cleared up.

LABOR PEACE EFFORT FLOPS

AFL Ends Convention Still Staring Cooly at CIO Opposition.

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS—The American Federation of Labor, with plans for peace with the CIO apparently carefully stowed among the moth balls, today began to put up the shutters on its 60th annual convention.

The delegates, whom nothing would keep in session after sundown except tardiness in closing out routine business, turned to minor committee reports and the re-election of President William Green and other officers.

As a parting shot for those coming within the sphere of its complaints, the convention saved for almost the last moment a blazing barrage of accusations against the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

But after an 11-day meeting that included a personal message from President Roosevelt urging a settlement of labor's quarrels, the AFL still stared coolly at the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

An adopted resolutions committee report, entitled "the CIO—its attitude toward peace negotiations," calmly observed that the AFL had a standing committee ready to confer with the CIO.

The AFL accused the anti-trust division headed by Attorney General Thurman Arnold with "unwarranted and destructive activities against organized labor."

Two Mansfield men and two others from the Richland county area were enlisted in the United States Navy this morning and left today for the Great Lakes, Ill., naval training station to begin their training.

The Mansfielders were: Fred Miller, jr., son of Fred Miller, sr., 215 Third avenue, and George H. Prinz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prinz, 473 Orange street. The others were Richard E. Hunter of Ashland and William Wachtel of Loudonville.

A permanent naval recruiting station is now maintained in the postoffice, with Chief Petty Officer W. G. Cox in charge.

BETTER TRAP FINALLY MADE

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Frank Ford has done his part. Now he's waiting for the world to beat a path to his door.

He has built a better mousetrap a sort of endless chain mousetrap — which he explains thus.

Not much sooner has a mouse, enticed within by the inevitable hunk of cheese, been caught and electrocuted by an 8,000-volt current than his lifeless form drops through a trapdoor and the mechanism is ready for its next victim.

BRITAIN CUTS FRUIT OFF OF SHIPPING LIST

Nazi U-Boat and Surface Raiders Make Serious Food Problem.

(By United Press)

LONDON — Nazi U-boat and surface raider attacks upon Britain's overseas supply lines have reached such intensity that authorities today were reported preparing plans for extension of rationing and communal feeding, a ban on imports of "non-essential" fruit and possible curtailment of overseas shipments.

The gravity of the shipping situation and the closely related problem of providing Britain with food was indicated plainly today by Lord Woolton, minister of food.

Woolton announced a ban on shipments of apples, apricots, grapes, bananas and possibly other fruits due to lack of cargo space and said that "we may, indeed, find ourselves no longer able to afford space" for customary imports of meat.

He indicated that these drastic steps were due to a shortage of refrigeration capacity in the British merchant marine, presumably due to sinkings by Nazi raiders and because of the need of refrigeration tonnage by Britain's overseas armed forces.

Woolton's statement followed closely the revelation in parliament yesterday by Arthur Greenwood, member of the inner war cabinet, that British shipping losses have reached the World war peak of the dark days of April, 1917. At that time Britain was reduced to a three weeks' supply of food.

It was indicated, however, that while losses had hit the 1917 peak, food reserves are larger than were on hand then.

Great Britain is completely dependent upon overseas sources of food and in peace-time produces only a small percentage of its own meat supply.

The parliamentary correspondent of the authoritative British press association reported that the government was confident of weathering the months ahead without "difficulty or hardship."

However, he reported subsequently that plans are being drafted for extension of rationing to new food commodities, extension of present small-scale communal feeding plans by establishment of canteens in factories, schools and restaurants.

Communal feeding enables authorities to make more economical use of restricted food supplies than is possible by individual purchases and food preparation.

MANSFIELDER STRUCK BY CAR

Highway Workman, Hit While Painting Road Signs, Improved.

William Moorman, 28, of 27 Remy avenue, who was seriously injured Monday while working on route 42 near West Salem, was reported improving today in the Lodi hospital.

Moorman, an employe of the Ashland division of the state highway department, was painting center lines on the pavement when he was struck by a car that attempted to pass another on a hill.

Moorman suffered a compound fracture of the right arm, back injuries, and cuts and bruises on his body. Relatives here said he probably would be in the Lodi hospital for several days.

H. K. CRONENWETT

Just last week, Mr. Cronenwett was awarded a 50-year honor emblem for half a century of continuous service to Standard Oil—and to Mansfield.

Behind that fifty years is a record of loyal, hard work—of conscientious service to everyone with whom he dealt—of taking pride in doing better, every day, any job or task that was his to do.

Why Mr. Cronenwett has succeeded so well is best described in his own words—"My work has been my hobby."

On behalf of everyone at Standard Oil, and for his many friends in Mansfield and throughout Ohio, we wish him continued success—and extend our hand in hearty congratulations!

AAA OFFICIALS HEAR OUTLINE OF '41 PROGRAM

50 From 12 Counties Meet In Mansfield; Corn Loans To Be 61 Cents.

Nearly 50 Agricultural administration officials from 12 north-central Ohio counties, meeting in Mansfield yesterday, heard an outline of the 1941 federal corn loan program which will provide loans of 61 cents per bushel on this year's corn crop.

The government's revised loan program was discussed by C. W. VanScoy, member of the state AAA committee, and Ed Durre, who is in charge of the government commodity loan program in Ohio. T. R. Brailey of Lorain county presided at the session.

Because of an increase in the price of corn since last year, the amount available per bushel in 1941 will be up four cents from the 57-cent rate in effect now.

Loans will be available for 10 months under the new program as compared to only four months this year. Term of the loans has been extended from one to three years. The interest rate is three per cent.

Designed to prevent flooding of the market at harvest time and a drop in price, the program makes it possible for farmers to borrow on their corn and hold it for sale at a future time.

Grain on which loans are obtained must be sealed in cribs or in elevators and warehouses. It cannot be sold until the loan is repaid or the grain is surrendered to the government in payment of the loan.

Corn must grade No. 3 or higher to be eligible for a loan and it must not have a moisture content above 20.5 per cent at any time. The acceptable moisture content, however, varies throughout the year. It is based on this schedule:

Ear corn, between Dec. 1, 1940, and Feb. 28, 1941, 20.5 per cent; between March 1 and April 30, 1941, 17.5 per cent; between May 1 and Sept. 30, 1941, 5.5 per cent; shelled corn, between July 1 and Sept. 30, 1941, 13.5 per cent.

Counties represented at yesterday's meeting at AAA headquarters in Mansfield were Ashland, Richland, Crawford, Knox, Wayne, Summit, Erie, Lorain, Medina, Delaware, Marion and Huron.

Optimist Club Plans 'Optimist Week' Program

Plans for an 'Optimist Week" celebration next week and a Christmas party for the Junior Optimists club at the Friendly house were discussed by members of the Optimist club at their weekly luncheon meting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel yesterday.

As a part of the celebration next week, J. Ralph Barrow, president of the Akron Optimists, will speak to the group at their regular Wednesday meeting.

The observance of Optimist week is a national celebration, sponsored by the Optimist International as an appeal for more optimism, confidence and cheerfulness in meeting current problems.

In a proclamation issued by Mayor William J. Locke, setting aside next week as "Optimist Week" in Mansfield, an appeal was made to all Mansfielders "to promote the philosophy of constructive optimism."

The date for the Christmas party for the Friendly House Junior Optimists was tentatively set for Wednesday, Dec. 18, with Rev. H. L. Gilbert, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, as speaker.

24, and Never Been Kissed, Rookie Declared.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The navy has discovered a man who says he never has hugged or kissed a girl, eaten chicken or chocolate ice cream, or talked with a girl on the telephone.

Ivan Whitfield, 25, also told a recruiting officer he never had smoked, ordered a meal in a restaurant, watched a prize fight, sent an affectionate letter or telegram to a girl, drunk liquor, danced, or stepped aboard a battleship or submarine.

Whitfield joined the navy.

BEEBEE'S GOD SEND SAYS SIDNEY RESIDENT

For Weakened Kidneys and Bladder Trouble Bee Bee's Is a Proven Medicine That Will Give Quick Relief

J. B. Fahnstock of 614 North Miami St., Sidney, Ohio, says: "I have been bothered for five years with prostate troubles, my kidneys were in such a condition that I would have to rise four or five times nightly. Bladder weakness and this kidney condition caused me much misery with pains across my back. The broken sleep at night and those awful pains caused me to lose weight and to become very run-down, my food would not digest properly and I had no appetite at all. I have taken two bottles of the Bee Bee's and feel greatly improved. I do not have to get up nights at all now. I am getting more restful sleep now than I have had in months. This wonderful rest at nights has given me a new lease on life. The poisons from my kidneys and bladder are being eliminated properly, therefore not upsetting my stomach and causing constipation. For the relief of prostate trouble, kidney weakness and bladder irritations I highly recommend Bee Bee's and suggest that everyone suffering with this condition try this new and remarkable remedy at once."

Mr. J. B. Fahnstock

Bee Bee's is a liquid herb medicine made especially for those who suffer with prostate, kidney weakness, bladder irritations, pains across the back and nightly rising. The benefit Bee Bee's is giving thousands should convince you that it would be a mistake not to try this remarkable new medicine and get the same blessed relief in such a short time as others have.

CONTINUE FIGHT ON DEAD HORSE

Hoof Beats Echo In Seventh Trial Over Payment.

VALPARAISO, Ind.—(AP)—Porter superior court is hearing the seventh trial in a seven-year-old legal battle over a horse, now dead, which was sold by a man now dead.

In March, 1933, Ben Anderson sold the horse to Ben and Vernon Kuehl for a $100 note. The buyers said the horse was a bad bargain, and they wouldn't pay the note.

Anderson sued. He was killed in an automobile accident. His estate went ahead with the suit. The horse died, but left a colt, now full grown.

COMPILE PAPERS.

OXFORD, O.—(U P)—Miami university has collected the papers and effects of William M. McGuffey, author of the famous McGuffey Readers which sold 122,000,000 copies in the latter half of the 19th century and were an important step in American education.

WAR BLAMED

Fisherman Says Bottom Drops Out of Eel Market.

WHITEHALL, N. Y. —(INS)— The war has knocked the bottom out of the eel market, according to Captain John H. Carter, well-known eel fisherman who stopped off in Whitehall recently with his first boatload of eels bound for New York.

This specie of fish, said Carter, once brought as high as $1 a pound, but this year the best he can get is five cents a pound. He added that an important reason for the great drop in prices was that the eels cannot be shipped to Germany.

Aboard his specially-built craft, which has an open bottom to permit fresh water to reach the eels a. times, were 38,000 pounds—a small shipment. However, it will take care of the present demand with other shipments yet to be made. Some boats carry as many as 75,000 pounds.

Student Building Miniature Scale Greek Parthenon

STANTON, Neb. —(INS)— A realistic miniature replica of the famed Parthenon of Athens, on a scale of 1 to 300 is nearing completion today by a senior student of Wayne, Neb., State Teacher's College.

Lyle Eddy, 23, of Stanton, is using various natural color woods in reproducing the Parthenon.

In an attempt to make the reproduction as realistic as possible, Eddy has placed the 58 pillars slightly out of parallel.

So far, he has spent more than 300 hours in the intricate carving of the diminutive parts of the building. When he has completed it, he plans to reproduce some noted Gothic church such as Rheims, Notre Dame or possibly Westminster Abbey.

BOGUS DIVORCE DECREES FOUND

Officials Fear Many Hundreds Of Americans May Have Phoney Mexican Papers.

(By Associated Press)

EL PASO, Texas — Possibility that "several hundred" Americans might be possessors of bogus Mexican divorces manufactured by an alleged "counterfeit divorce factory" drew the attention today of both United States and Mexican authorities.

The bogus decrees were reported to bear the signatures of minor court judges of Villa Ahumada and Pradedis G. Guerrero, small towns in the state of Chihuahua.

Attention of U. S. postal authorities was called to the case by Judge Ricardo Carillo Duran of the Juarez civil court—itself for years the mecca of Americans seeking "easy" but legal Mexican divorces.

Judge Carillo Duran said he believed at least 48 "divorce" documents — impressively garnished with seals and red ribbon —had been granted to Americans, all bearing the signatures of minor Chihuahua judges.

"Even if the decrees bore the real signatures of the judges—and I am convinced the signatures are forgeries—they would still be invalid because minor courts cannot grant divorces," the judge asserted.

Full investigation was ordered by Ignacio Lomeli Jaugegui, Chihuahua state attorney general.

On the American side of the Rio Grande, an attorney was reported under scrutiny, and postal authorities requested a ruling of the U. S. district attorney's office whether charges would be justified.

Pupils of 45 schools now may buy a half pint of milk at their lunch periods for one cent. Another group of 1,500 needy students are receiving milk free under an experimental plan worked out among Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, federal agencies and the Department of Education.

MRS. FULDHEIM HAS FINAL BOOK REVIEW

Speaker Presents Program on "For Whom the Bell Tolls" By Hemmingway; Concludes Series Sponsored By Clinic.

INJECTING into the Hemmingway indictment of the present world situation considerable of her own interpretation of the crisis now facing modern life, Dorothy Fuldheim, Cleveland, reviewed "For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Ernest Hemmingway before a nearly capacity audience at the Ohio theater. This was the final book review-movie program of the season as sponsored by the Mansfield Dental clinic to raise funds to carry on work among indigent children.

Mrs. Fuldheim, who has traveled extensively in Europe, and is completely familiar with the recent Spanish war, traced briefly the spirit of the Spanish people, explaining their regal arrogance.

The story is a simple one of romance against the background of the revolution in Spain. The reviewer drew a clear and moving picture of the love between young Roberto, an American, and the gypsy maiden, Maria, whom he meets when he goes high into the mountains to blow up a bridge to prevent Franco men from advancing.

The reviewer gave a faithful account of the author's descriptions of the horror and terror which ran rampant in every city and town throughout Spain, and ended her review on a solemn and disturbing note with the death of Roberto.

Proceeds from the series, which were presented this fall by Katherine Bang, Dr. Joseph Remenyi, Margaret Rowland and Mrs. Fuldheim, will be used by the clinic to further dental care among indigents. Mrs. Ward Ingraham, president of the clinic, introduced yesterday's speaker, and Mrs. Warren C. Fort was general chairman of the reviews.

The 33 members present were told that he is considered to have given us the best Indian music.

Mrs. E. N. Cooper read descriptions of the musical numbers which followed. Mrs. Bishop sang "Invocation to the Sun God" and "A Mountain Madrigal" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka" accompanied by Mrs. Ketner with Mrs. E. D. Gibson, a guest, playing the violin obbligato.

Mrs. Ketner and Mrs. L. E. Rahn played "Sioux Scalp Dance," as a piano duet, and Mrs. Gibson gave "Vivial Di Nachez," concerto in G. for the final number with Mrs. Rahn accompanying.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"YOU HAVE no right to say that," I said passionately, every fibre of my being keyed in defense of Marion. "I suppose you mean that Marion is in love with that man, and that she has gone away with him, perhaps married him."

"I don't mean anything," he said soothingly, "and I'm sorry I spoke that way. But," with masculine stubbornness — "you must admit—"

"That it looks like that explanation," I said wearily, my anger ebbing with his kindness. "I suppose it does, but I'm not going to believe it until Marion herself tells me it is true."

"Nobody's going to ask you to," he said, "but if Dad's dope is correct, it may be some time before she talks to you. A man who is on the Chief's black books isn't a particularly safe companion for any girl. I wonder what his game is. By the way, what did Marion say to you over the wire? I cut away as soon as I had traced the call from Ticer's, you know."

I repeated my conversation with Marion word for word, and he listened without interruption. When I had finished he spoke.

"She didn't want anybody to know where she was, she wanted her mother to know she was safe, and she wanted to know if Katherine had heard from Jack lately. The first two are explainable, but what in the hinges of hell does that last question imply?"

"That is the thing which is puzzling me," I said. "She can have no possible interest in the question herself, therefore—"

I paused, and Dicky finished the conjecture.

"That means the man is interested in Jack Bickett's movements, yet why should he be?"

He was thinking aloud. I realized, and required no answer, so I kept silent, and after a second or two he went on.

"I've always thought there was something queer about Jack's long silence," he said. "How long since Katrina heard from him?"

"I don't know, but it's a long time," I returned.

"To long for reason," he said. "Either he still loves her, or he doesn't, but in either case, he'd probably write to her, if only to know how he stands. No, there's something behind it, and this development proves it. We ought to have swung into action long ago."

"You think Jack may be dead?" I quavered.

"I don't know what to think," he countered. "All I know is that we'd better turn our investigation partly in that direction. What does dad know about this particular angle?"

"Nothing from me," I told him, "but he was questioning Katherine, and I imagine she told him everything that had been said."

"Probably," he assented. "But I think I'll check guardedly with Dad by telephone nevertheless after we've seen Lil. Are you still set on telling her the truth?"

"Of course I am," I returned. "I'm only doing what I would want somebody to do for me if I were in her place."

"Which God forbid you ever will be," he said quickly.

"Amen," I said solemnly, "but the possibility makes me all the more insistent that Lillian should know the truth. Think of it! At this moment she doesn't know whether Marion is dead or alive."

"If I know Lil, and I think I do," Dicky replied gloomily, "she'd almost rather know she were dead than to hear the story we have to tell her."

"If you weren't driving," I said savagely, "I'd shake you until your teeth rattled. Lillian will never put the most obvious interpretation upon that story. She knows her daughter too well for that. She will know that some web has enmeshed Marion either through her love of melodramatic adventure, or because she is shielding somebody else, and she will find relief from her awful anxiety in trying to solve the problem and rescue her child."

"Let us hope you are right," Dicky said. "But you spoke of Marion shielding somebody. Do you mean Carolyn Brixton?"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Nov. 29.

A baffling and unpredictable state of affairs, with things in all connections moving drastically at "sixes and sevens," is read from the very lively operations of the subtler planets. There may be great tendency to large, pretentious, and extravagant moves, with the feelings expansive and inflationary, impulses reckless and strenuous, but with subtle or singular elements arising to disconcert and to thwart. By shrewdness, restraint and determination the balance may be turned to lucrative and productive climax.

Those whose birthday it is have a year of fine opportunity for major achievement, with gratifying productive results, if they will make efforts to check impulsive, extravagant objectives.

A child born on this day should have much ability and initiative, with rather inflated and extravagant ideals and ambitions. With waywardness properly directed, it may succeed in a big way.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE LONE HONOR FIRST

KNOWING part of the rules for sound play can cost you tricks just the same as knowing none of them can. The important thing is to know the reason for a rule, or else to depend on plain everyday common sense. The trouble about the latter is that it wastes time at the table. If it is abetted by specific knowledge of certain card combinations, you have more time left for deeper thinking, while the fellow without that knowledge has to finish his thinking where yours begins.

After ruffing the third heart lead, South laid down his trump ace, and was beaten forthwith. There was no way on earth to keep East from taking the setting trick in diamonds, once South had made that single mistake.

Quoting the book, South bemoaned the fact that he had played the suit correctly by taking the first trump trick in the hand which possessed two honors.

That is really not the rule in any good book. What it actually says is that you do that when you are in position to finesse against a disadvahtageous holding in the hand of either opponent. If your suit is so disturbed that you can guard yourself against only one defender having a bunch of trumps, then you take the first trick in the hand which leaves you protection against him.

In this case, South was able to guard against four trumps by East, but not against four by West, so trump trick in dummy, especially he should have taken the first since the bidding showed West with length in two other suits and hence probable shortness in trumps.

After West bids both spades and clubs and leads the diamond 9, how should South play for 4 Hearts?

STAR STRUCK + + + + + + +

CHAPTER VIII

He smiled and Glory was conscious of the magnetic attraction of that handsome face. There was something so eager, so boyish underneath the outer sophistication, almost as if he were not sure of himself. But when they got out of the car to enter the small restaurant Allan had chosen, he was smooth and debonair as he signed the autograph books of two wide-eyed girls. Acting the part of the movie hero, Glory observed, amused. He enjoyed the adoration of his public, and in return he gave it his most charming courteous self.

The restaurant was quiet, furnished in Bohemian style with checked tablecloths and thick plate. It was early so they had the place to themselves. A colored waiter served them delicious fried chicken and hot biscuits with honey.

As they ate Allan's mood became gayer and Glory lost her awe of him.

"I haven't had so much fun in weeks," he told her.

"Neither have I," Glory said truthfully. She thought Allan had never looked so handsome on the screen as he did smiling across the little table. His sports shirt was open at the throat. His tweed coat was beautifully tailored. His hair was sleek and as black as Glory's, but his eyes were dark, not blue. His chiseled face was that of a Greek god.

"We're going dancing'" he told her. "Just the two of us. Now—tonight!"

"But I'm not dressed," Glory protested.

His smile drew her to him like a magnet.

"That doesn't matter. Neither am I. This is Hollywood!"

He called the waiter and paid the check and arm in arm they walked to his car. His mood was infectious.

"I'm going to have fun tonight, Glory. I'm going to forget everything, everything, and be like other people."

And so they danced to beautiful music. Glory felt as if she had wings on her feet. She floated in his embrace like a butterfly. Words were unnecessary. The spell of his arms about her was enough. It was madness! But she didn't care! She probably wouldn't see him again after tonight. It was just another night to a star like Allan, and she, no doubt just another girl. There must have been so many of them in his life.

But to Glory he no longer seemed like the idol of the screen. Now he was just a man, a very handsome man, who held her tenderly and guided her footsteps into a heavenly pattern. It was a dream, a dream of delight. Did he? Could he feel the same way? Fool, Glory told herself, but she could not break the spell. This was romance—even if it ended like Cinderella's ball, at midnight. She forgot about her screen test about Helen and Scottie—her ambition—everything faded into insignificance.

Allan held her closer. "I've got to see you again, Glory," he whispered, and his voice was husky with emotion.

When at last they drove home through the Hollywood night Glory thought it had never been so beautiful. The stars were brighter, the air sweeter, the night wind softer! In silence they drove to the apartment hotel and when they stepped out of the car Allan took her hand in his.

"You don't know what this has meant to me," he whispered. "Thank you, Glory! Thank you for being so real!" And again that earnest, eager look as his eyes met hers. Understanding flashed between them!

"I'll call you!" he promised.

When Glory went to sleep that night she pressed the hand he had held against her face. Every wild beat of her heart seemed to cry "Allan! Allan!" she closed her eyes to picture again that handsome face, the sleek black head, the restless eager manner. The stormy eyes that could be so tender!

"I love him!" Glory whispered into the darkness. "I love him! I love him!"

Not once had she remembered to worry about her screen test.

The next day when Mark called, Glory refused to see him. She wanted to be at home when Allan telephoned. Mark's voice betrayed no surprise. Courteous as always, he said he would call again soon.

Helen, overhearing the conversation, looked at Glory curiously, "Have you and Mark quarreled?"

Glory faced her with shining eyes. "Of course not! But I'm expecting some one else to phone me." She hesitated, reluctant to tell Helen about Allan Rhodes, knowing that Helen would disapprove. They spent the morning discussing the screen test and so far there had been no necessity for explaining where she had been the night before.

Helen's voice was casual. "Not Allan Rhodes by any chance?"

"How did you know?"

"Scottie saw you last night."

"I thought Scottie was out of town."

"He was but he flew back yesterday afternoon. He saw you dancing with Allan. He said you didn't even speak to him."

"I didn't see him," Glory confessed, ashamed.

"Look, honey! Take a tip from me. Don't fall for Allan Rhodes' line."

But Glory had no intention of letting Helen know her secret.

"After all, Helen, I've seen the man only once."

Helen ignored that. "Allan's too vain to really love any woman, besides, he's not free."

Glory's heart sank. "He's not married?"

"No, but he's Mona Greer's personal property. She gave him his first break and she could still ruin Allan if she got it in for him. That woman's tops in Hollywood. And if another girl gets in the way—off with her head."

Glory refused to be impressed. "I should think Allan would have something to say about his own love affairs."

"Listen, Glory," Helen said seriously. "I've never given you a bum steer yet, have I? Stay away from Allan Rhodes."

Glory faced her defiantly. She loved Helen and appreciated everything she had done, but this was something that no one else could decide. The way she felt about Allan was as strong as her urge to go to Hollywood had been. It was already a bond beyond her power to break.

"Please, Helen," she begged and tears stood in the blue eyes, "let's not talk about it any more."

By noon Allan had not telephoned and Glory wished she had agreed to see Mark. But it was too late for that now! At one o'clock her nerves were strung to the breaking point. "Let's go out for lunch," she suggested.

"All right," Helen said quietly. "We'll go out and celebrate your screen test. We'll meet Scottie. I know where he'll be today."

Glory's spirits rose as she dressed, putting on a sophisticated black crepe and a small hat with a long delicate black veil. Even to herself she would not admit that she was dressing in the hope that Allan Rhodes would see her.

As she passed through the small lobby the desk clerk handed her a letter. It was from her father. . . . "You've been there for two months now," he reminded her. "Aren't you about ready to come home?"

Pity for him gnawed at her heart but she could not leave now. Instead she must write asking him for more money. Begging for it unless the screen test brought her work.

They were seated in a smart restaurant at a table against the wall where Scottie joined them.

"Well, baby," he told Glory. "I talked to Max this morning and he said you were okay."

Glory's eyes sparkled with happiness. "Having Allan to work with made it so much easier. I don't know how I could have done it without him."

Helen and Scottie exchanged glances. "See here, Glory, I'd rather you don't get mixed up with that guy."

"I've only seen him once," Glory protested for the second time that day.

"Sure. I saw you and I saw the way you were looking at each other—and I didn't like it." Scottie's voice was hard. "As your agent I have a righ to have a say in some things. If you're going to make the grade, you've got to listen to me."

"After all, my personal life is my own business, isn't it?" Glory said so naively that Scottie groaned.

"Stars don't have personal lives!" he snapped, and turning to Helen with a significant glance, he said, "Let's have a drink!"

Glory felt like a naughty child who had been reprimanded. Why all this fuss about one evening spent in the company of Allan Rhodes? It was ridiculous for Scottie to think that he could dictate to her heart.

Several stars passed by their table. Some in slacks and fur coats, hair flowing to their shoulders, others carefully and beautifully dressed, a few still in costume. They all had a greeting for Scottie, some for Helen and more than one curious glance rested on the lovely girl in black who sat beside them. Glory toyed with her salad but drank the milk that Scottie insisted upon. A silence hung over the little group and when a gorgeously dressed blonde stopped at the table, they all turned to her, grateful for an interruption.

"Honey Newton!" exclaimed Helen. "What are you doing here?"

"It's my day off," Honey explained in silvery tones. She was as smooth as silk and soft as the furs she wore, but in spite of the expensive clothes there was something cheap about Honey Newton. She was young and baby-faced but far from unsophisticated. When she had gone Helen said, "I'd give my right arm to know where she gets those clothes."

"Why?" Glory asked. "Isn't she in the movies?"

Helen laughed. "She's a manicurist, darling! But by night she appears in swank clothes at our best places, always alone. She can't buy furs like that on what she makes. Honey Newton is one of the mysteries of Hollywood. She knows all the answers but she tells nothing."

"But why does she go on being a manicurist?" Glory asked, intrigued.

Helen shrugged. "To cover up, maybe. I don't know. Your guess is as good as mine."

That afternoon, alone in her apartment, Glory pondered the question of Honey Newton. A manicurist by day and yet by night she appeared mysteriously in her gorgeous clothes at all the night spots. It was certainly true that everything could and usually did, happen in Hollywood.

At five-thirty the telephone rang and Allan's voice sang over the wire, "Hello, sweet! Want to go to a preview with me tonight?"

"Of course, Allan! I'd love to!"

"I'll pick you up about a quarter to eight then."

Glory decided to wear black, confide it that Allan would like it, and she was not disappointed.

"You're beautiful, Glory!" he said sincerely.

What a thrill it was to be with Allan! To see the admiring curious glances that followed them! To watch Allan turn on his "public personality" as he signed the autograph books they thrust into his hands. To sit beside him in the darkened theater! Glory had not seen Mona Greer. If what Helen and Scottie had said about their always being together were true, why wasn't he with her tonight? Surely he didn't care much about Mona's displeasure if he would publicly escort another girl to a preview!

Later Allan took her to a nearby supper club and when he had ordered, Allan told her about his early struggles to be an actor.

"No one knows what I went through in those days," he said, his black eyes growing hard. "What I've gotten I've worked for like a dog, and no one's going to take it away from me—ever! When you're in the money and on top, the world's at your feet, but when you're down they can't step in your face fast enough. I can't ever go back to being poor. Glory, to being hungry and kicked around. That's the trouble with being a success," he mused. "You've got to fight so hard to stay there. One slip and you're through!"

Glory was surprised at his vehemence but characteristically enough in a few minutes he was laughing happily as they danced.

On the way home that night Allan drove to a spot high in Beverly Hills and parked the car overlooking the shimmering lights.

He was silent for a few moments, then drawing her swiftly into his arms, he said, "I'm afraid I'm falling in love with you, Glory!"

Afraid—why was he afraid?

"Don't be afraid!" Glory whispered and suddenly he drew her closer until their lips met.

The world spun round in that mad moment, then he released her, saying quietly, "We'd better go!"

Glory was ecstatically happy as they drove home. The world was still spinning around her in enchanted circles. This was love!

NEW HAVEN —(INS)— After a detailed analysis of the parking problem of American cities, J. T. McGavin of the Yale University bureau for street traffic research has found that 2,790 parking garages of 200 stalls each are needed. This he says is a potential market of $10,000,000 for the steel industry.

BUCYRUS—Leaving early Wednesday, Carl Hoefer started for New York where he is scheduled to sail today for the Panama Canal Zone where he has accepted a position with the United States government. Mrs. Hoefer expects to join her husband within a month.

U. S. Allots 600 Planes Per Month to Great Britain

TWO-YEAR PLAN DISCLOSED BY HIGH OFFICIALS

Combat Ships Make Up Great Part of British Share of American Production.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Great Britain has been promised delivery of an average of 600 American military airplanes per month for the next two years, it was revealed today in official quarters.

Delivery schedules of the national defense commission covering the 24 month period between July 1, 1940 and July 1, 1942 allot the RAF approximately 14,500 airplanes.

Nearly 90 per cent of these airplanes are of the combat type while only 1,800 are training ships.

Under this delivery program, Great Britain is receiving about half the total American output of combat airplanes. This is in accordance with President Roosevelt's recently enunciated "rule of thumb" policy governing aircraft procurement by Britain and the United States.

In order to invigorate the RAF, deliveries to the British for the next year will be concentrated mainly in the combat categories. The American army and navy is giving Great Britain extensive priority in the orders for fighting planes and during the next 12 months the United States forces will take delivery largely on its orders for training planes rather than fighters.

This fits in with the American defense scheme since both the army and navy at present are faced with the problem of training pilots who will be needed as the nation's air strength expands.

The defense commission's delivery schedule embraces a total of 35,000 planes. By July 1942, the army will receive about 7,500 fighters and 6,500 trainers; the navy 5,000 fighters and 2,000 trainers. The war department yesterday expressed approval of the P-39 Airacobra, a 400-mile-an-hour pursuit plane, following tests by army flyers. Average cost of all these ships is around $80,000.

These delivery schedules do not take into account any new program. It has been reported that Great Britain will seek 12,000 more planes while the army is interested in acquiring from 12,000 to 15,000 new bombers.

It is likely the automobile industry will take over the task of manufacturing structural parts for any new program.

Meanwhile, the question of legislation providing further aid to Great Britain probably will await the reconvening of congress in January.

The senate foreign relations committee yesterday postponed immediate consideration of legislation amending the Johnson and neutrality acts to permit war loans and credits to England.

Probe Swastikas Painted on Roads In Ashland County

Ashland County Sheriff L. D. Hammond and other officers were still investigating today the origin of eight white swastikas painted on main highways in the northern part of the county.

Five of the swastikas were painted on U. S. route 250 in the vicinity of Savannah, two near West Salem, and another on route 89, just north of the Ashland county line. All were found yesterday.

Occupying an area three feet square and painted carefully with precise line, the Nazi emblems were blocked out with black paint today by state highway employes.

Upon discovery of the emblems, Sheriff Hammond immediately informed the federal bureau of investigation.

Hammond believes, however, the swastikas were painted by a mischievous group trying to create excitement.

Ground Broken for Ohio Aircraft Plant

A tall slender man wearing dark rimmed glassed and carrying a heavy metal case walked into the traffic bureau at police headquarters yesterday and plunked down a yellow tag and a dollar bill. Miss Helen Baughman, clerk, eyed him suspiciously and inquired: "Aren't you Lloyd L. Kochenderfer, the parking meter collector? Receiving an affirmative reply she added, "then what's this?" For parking in a metered spot too long, he explained.

Bromfield and his manager, George Hawkins, will be introduced, and another native son, Fred Wilson, now program director of WTAM, will sing. The program goes on the air at 10:30 p. m.

If anyone should see Assistant Postmaster W. T. Houston standing on the rear platform of the postoffice with his arm up in the air, looking very much like the Statue of Liberty, it's nothing to be alarmed about. All he's doing is satisfying his curiosity concerning the rise and fall of the temperature during the day. All winter he carries a pocket thermometer with him and at regular intervals retires to the rear platform of the postoffice for a check-up.

The No. 3 draft board at the courthouse which has been seeking volunteers without success almost got one today. When a husky youth entered the office and said he wanted to enlist, the clerks' faces brightened, but only briefly, for they remembered they had had other applicants from outside their district. They asked this one where he lived. "In Mansfield," he replied. "And that was the end of that, for Mansfield is not in the No. 3 district. The No. 3 board has received only two volunteers and neither could qualify.

JUDGE NAMES NEW BAILIFF

Crouse, Missing Three Weeks, Replaced In Common Pleas Court Post.

David Lantz, Bowman street road, was appointed Richland county common pleas court bailiff and probation officer today to succeed Harry Crouse who left the city about three weeks ago and has not been heard from since.

The appointment was made by Judge C. H. Huston who said Lantz will assume his new duties Dec. 9. Lantz has been a teacher for a number of years at Madison high school and in rural schools north of Mansfield.

Crouse, who had been bailiff for about six years and probation officer for more than two years, left home on a week-end early in November, telling his wife only that he was "leaving town." He took his clothing and his automobile. Relatives have received no word from him.

Judge Huston said he had not asked officers to search for Crouse because he believed the former bailiff was working elsewhere and there was little chance that he had met with foul play.

Judge Huston said Crouse was "a hard worker and kept the records in good shape" while he was in the office. As probation officer he handled the monthly reports of men who had been placed on probation by Judge Huston and kept a record of alimony payments ordered by the court.

MAP PROGRAM

Police To Plan Child Safety Movement Next Week.

Members of the Mansfield police department will meet next week to discuss plans for a child safety education program which will be financed from funds made on the policemen's dance last week.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today that there are still reports to be made on ticket sales for the ball and that the department will not know until next week how much money was made on the annual dance, but he estimated the figure at "somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,500.

Last year the police department made $1,400 on the ball, but admission prices were raised this year and a "name orchestra" was obtained.

Bates said that out of this year's fund the department would finance its own rifle range, practice amunition, fixing up the shelter house at the range, and would start its child safety education program which it hopes to carry on over a period of several years. The program will be discussed and probably set up at next week's meeting.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Fabulous Broadwayites—No. 1.

Sometimes an observer of the Manhattan scene comes upon a character so fantastic of manner, so incredible of action, that it seems unwise to report him to the public and risk being thought an opium-eater.

Even an audience accustomed to the vagaries of Tommy Manville, Tony Galento and Elaine Barrie has a right to expect fantasy to end somewhere and for this reason I have for some time been withholding the story of the Capricious Count. But his tale haunts my typewriter. So at the risk of having my readers write round-robins asking me where I buy my marijuana, I tell it.

The Count is an actual character. I will call him "Toto," as well as by his title, because he has a nickname something like that, and I will describe him, truthfully, as quite good-looking. He is an Italian count. If he had ever met Marie Antoinette, they would have hit it off very well.

Toto has a passion for beautiful and fashionable things, and he has enough millions to buy anything he sees, but sometimes the things already in the world are not beautiful enough to suit Toto, so he makes things up in his own head and has them created.

A couple of years ago he decided to design the most beautiful motor car ever seen. It was to be blue, and shaped like an egg. He spent almost a year sketching it and drafting the plans down to the last stitch of upholstery, and even after the body was in work at the body builder's, he used to spend whole weeks deciding whether the fenders should curve this way or that, and if the door handles should not perhaps be an inch longer.

At last the car was finished. The Count brought his wife to the garage and, sparkling with triumph, invited her to sit in it with him.

But alas! The unhappy Countess discovered that because the automobile was shaped like an egg, and the small part of the egg was the back seat, it was impossible for two persons to sit in the tonneau unless one of them sat like a bird with a broken neck.

"Look, Toto," she complained. "My neck is bent when I sit in it."

Toto was furious at this criticism of his masterpiece.

"You do not appreciate my beautiful car," he said. "Hereafter I will ride in it alone."

The Countess told him he was welcome.

The Count's next problem was getting a chauffeur who could drive his magnificent car, for as he tried one man after another, it was discovered that because the top of the car was low, only a driver with a short torso could sit erect in the front seat, and, because the car was so long, only a driver with phenomenally long legs could reach the clutch, brake and accelerator.

No chauffeur with a short-enough body and long-enough legs could be found for any price.

So Toto gave up.

He left his car in the garage and went to Palm Beach to forget the whole thing.

He was sitting on the sands of the Florida beach one sunny day some weeks later when he looked up from his sunburn oil and saw running across the sand something he had never hoped to see! A colored boy whose torso was as short as a chopping-block, and whose legs were the longest ever seen on mortal man.

The chauffeur for my car! the Count thought. The only man in the world made to order for my invention!

He sprinted down the beach after the colored boy, caught up with him, and said: "I hire you. Pack immediately and come with me."

The young Negro was completely reluctant. He was happy as he was, he did not know how to drive a car, he did not want to know how, he did not want to go to New York, he did not even want to put on shoes.

But Toto, in his exultation, overrode the boy. They took the next train back to New York.

In Manhattan, the sepian marvel was sent to driving school and fitted with a magnificent uniform, long of pants, short of coat. When the proper number of weeks had elapsed, the chauffeur eased himself behind the wheel of the car and Toto sat like a king in the back.

Slowly and majestically, they drove up Fifth aenvue.

Then—crash! Suddenly Toto's beautiful egg-shaped blue car was wrapped around two taxicabs and a double-decker bus.

It was in what the vulgar call smithereens.

The chauffeur fled.

The Count has never seen him since, but he assumes that the fellow was frightened by his battle with the mechanized world and ran back to Florida.

As for the Count, he had the egg-shaped car ironed out and put together again, but he left it in the garage, only now and then does he go and look at it, wistfully.

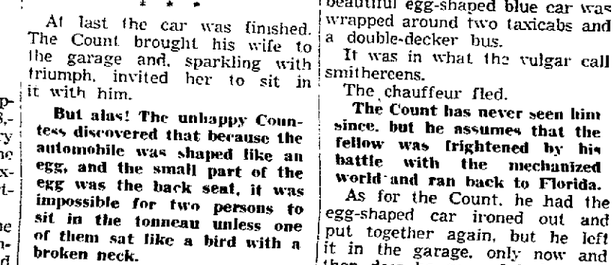
There are many other stories that could be told about Toto, if a writer did not run out of space. For instance, I like to recall the time a friend arranged for the Count to meet a very beautiful showgirl, whose name and face are well known around Broadway.

An appointment was arranged for midnight at a swank cafe, and the belle, who had been told about the Count's millions, arrived freshly coiffed and in a new black lace dress and all the jewels she could whip together.

Midnight arrived, but Toto did not. Twelve-thirty came, and the blonde began tapping her feet. Finally Toto telephoned his friend.

"I cannot come tonight," he said. "You must send the beautiful creature home. I have just been reading the newspapers and I am too depressed. It is better to make her angry than meet her with the wrong vibration.

So the blonde, who by this time had had plenty of vibrations, all wrong, went home.



Just pottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.

John Albie forcefully expressing his opinion of Mansfield's new parking meters in a discussion with a West Fourth street merchant. . . . Della Buckley getting ready for her annual cosmetics exhibit at the Leland hotel.

Ruth West waiting for Louise Krause in the Ohio theater lobby. . . . Mrs. Warren Fort telling a friend how successful the season of book reviews sponsored by the Dental Clinic has been. . . . Eleanor Bond stopping to give Chester Schultz a lift in her car. . . . Gene Schumacher complaining about the sudden cold spell.

Four city policemen "patroling" the courthouse corridor while waiting to be called as witnesses before the grand jury. . . . A youth turning in his draft questionnaire to Charles Kirkwood, clerk of draft board No. 3 and asking seriously: "Isn't there any way I can get out of this?"

Mrs. Louis Them classifying and counting thousands of sales tax coupons for Junior Red Cross. . . . Dale Ward walking down West Fourth as though he liked snow and wind. . . . Helen Baughman (police office) with the cutest galoshes a la Russian boots. . . . Briley "Bill" Milum of the Prodential staff going out to lunch without an overcoat.

The windows at City Hall "plastered" with Red Cross and Christmas seal placards. . . . Lieut. Bruce Friday trying to get Detective Lee J. Remy out of bed early this morning to go rabbit hunting. . . . Bank tellers digging Willkie buttons out of the parking meter collection. . . . A motorist explaining to another how to "beat" the meters by pulling in four penny slugs and dropping a penny in last so that it remained in view.

Amateur Boxers Have Something To Work for In Settlement Show

Youngsters Anxious to Show They Will Be Threats In Golden Gloves Tournament.

By CHARLES MARTIN, News-Journal Sports Editor.

AMATEUR leather slingers from Ashland, Crawford and Richland counties, who are appearing on the Friendly House boxing card Friday night, have a new thought in mind today as they awaited the gong to send them into action.

Those youngsters will be out to show fight enthusiasts and rivals that they will be serious contenders for the Junior Association of Commerce Golden Gloves tournament to be staged in Mansfield in January.

The Settlement show will be headlined by a five-round bout between Paul Carbetta, 112, of the Friendly House and Paul Reed, 116, of Akron.

Reed, a clever defensive fighter, has been working hard for a chance to meet Carbetta and reports from Akron say the lad is in tip-top shape for his test.

Carbetta, one of the finest amateur flyweights ever developed in Mansfield, is a hard puncher and it will be interesting to see what the Akron youth can do against him.

This session stacks up as a thriller, for Paul, anxious to add more victories to his impressive list, does not want any newcomer placing a blot on his record.

It will probably be the last tune-up before the Golden Gloves event and Carbetta wants to gain as much experience as he can before he makes another bid for the Cleveland Golden Gloves open championship.

The three Sauer brothers, Al, Joe and Mike, will strut their stuff in the Friendly House ring.

Al, a leading lightheavyweight, meets Jack Kinsey, 165, of Akron, while Joe, a welterweight takes on Oren Young, 148, Akron, and Mike, making his debut as a mittster will trade blows with Bob Barber, of the Friendly House. All are three-round bouts.

Officials for the show were named today by Mike Wentz, Settlement boys' director. The judges are George Allerding, guard and basketball coach at the Ohio state reformatory, "Gip" Miller and Paul Eliot. John Eichinger will referee the matches and Sam Fox will be the official timer. Jim Brownscombe will be the announcer.

Tickets for the fight may be purchased at the City News, Corner Lunch, Daley's cafe, Hunt's News depot, Ritz Nite club and the Friendly House.

Reserved and bleacher seats are 75 cents, while general admission seats are 40 cents. Several sections of the general admission group will not go on sale until Friday evening, Russ Gimbel, Friendly House director, announced today.

Swede Larson, the jovial top Middy mentor, decided today to hold in reserve any surprise dynamite he plans to fling at the Cadets and take no chances at first.

When the whistle blows, Larson disclosed, 11 men who have been in the thick of the fight in Navy's best season in years will move down field against Army. Seven are veterans—three seniors and four juniors—and four are sophomores.

Forty-three Middy players will entrain tonight for Oreland, Pa., where they will stay at the Manufacturers' Country club until game time, except for a trip to Temple university stadium and a light work-out Friday afternoon.

Conn, Savold Hold Workouts For New York Meet.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Light heavyweight champion Billy Conn and Lee Savold, a Des Moines heavyweight, today held light workouts in preparation for their scheduled 12-round struggle in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Both fighters are leading contenders for the heavyweight title, now held by Joe Louis, and a victory will be tantamount to a title bout with the Brown Bomber.

Conn was established as a 2 to 1 favorite over his foe.

Savold is expected to weigh 186 pounds for the battle and Conn will scale around 175.

Three Contests On Tap Friday For Cage Fans

Butler-Ontario Tilt Tops County League Schedule.

Richland county basketball league fans turn their attention toward Butler Friday when the high-scoring Bulldogs entertain the Ontario high Warriors in one of the three games opening hostilities for the loop championship.

The two other tilts toss the defending Bellville high team against Lexington at Bellville and Union against the Lucas Cubs at Lucas.

Butler, which walloped Hayesville, 55 to 23 in a non-league tussle Tuesday night appears to be the leading contender for the title.

The towering Bulldog quintet scored almost at will and Coach Bob Burgett was impressed by the accurate shooting of his proteges.

Bellville made its 1940-41 debut by losing to Howard Tuesday night and the Bluejays may find the Lexington Minutemen dangerous foes.

* *

What will happen at Lucas remains a mystery. The Cubs have an inexperienced combine. Union making its debut under Coach Dick Blanstock, has a veteran lineup but lacks height. Blanstock, erstwhile Wittenberg college star replaced by Heater at Union.

Sixteen Grid Tilts On Tap for Fans Today

NEW YORK — (AP) — This is Thanksgiving day for the 16 states that last week chose to wait for the second table and they are going to get the regular blue plate special football menu just like last week's fans.

The frills of the old fashioned Thanksgiving bill of fare are missing and there aren't any extra helpings of dressing to go with the turkey, but today's football fans can be thankful they aren't getting a warmed over meal.

The main course will be served by the southwest conference where the great Texas Aggies will stake their reputation and its post-season rewards against that old and dangerous rival, the University of Texas.

Over the years the Texas Longhorns have held a jinx sign on the Aggies, but it will take something physical as well as metaphysical today to keep A. and M. from acquiring its 20th consecutive victory.

The big game in the east brought Brown and Columbia together at Providence in a meeting slated for 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) neither had any cherished records to risk, but they appeared evenly matched.

Franklin and Marshall meets Ursinus at Lancaster, Pa. South Carolina bumped into Wake Forest.

The midwest and southwest had some other toothsome morsels on tap. Tulsa was to revive its grudge with Arkansas. Kansas meets Colorado State and Creighton clashes with Wichita.

Barons Edge Philadelphia

Defeat Ramblers By 3 to 2 Score In Fast Game.

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland's Barons protected their lead in the western division of the American Hockey league race by trimming the Philadelphia Ramblers 3-2 last night in one of the fastest and cleanest games played on Philadelphia ice this season.

Don Deacon provided the Barons with their winning margin near the end of the second period when he took a pass from Ossie Asmundson, stockhandled around the Ramblers defense and lifted the puck into the cage past Goalie Claude Bouque. Not a single penalty was called all evening.

The loss kept Philadelphia in a tie for third place in the eastern division with the Providence Reds who were defeated 3-1 by the Buffalo Bisons.

The Pittsburgh Hornets shook off recent lethargy in beating the Hershey Bears 6-4.

Madison held the lead throughout the contest until the final minutes when Junior Brooks and Lee Crapover combined to put the Bulldogs ahead for the first time and win the tilt.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

OMAHA, Neb.—(UP)—What does a turkey drumstick taste like?

I would like to know, because I am the man without a Thanksgiving. Even the president's generous provision of two of them has not helped me. Last Thursday I was in Iowa where Thanksgiving is today.

Now, today, on Thanksgiving No. 2, I am in Nebraska where they haven't even left-overs from the turkey with which they celebrated a week ago.

So, once again, I will honor the Pilgrim fathers by breaking my trans-continental motor trip long enough to wait my turn at ye wayside diner (gents invited—tables for ladies) and enjoy breast of hamburger, mail order gravy, home-baked pies (but whose home?), and coffee that escaped the draft by a good five years.

I'm not complaining, because this sort of Thanksgiving is nothing new to me. A man can't expect to keep up with half backs, wingbacks, fullbacks and quarterbacks and ever see a turkey back on his own dining room table, with all his relatives gathered round, smoking his cigars, drinking his wine, complaining of the service, and saying they aren't particular but all they care about is white meat.

Come to think of it, my sort of Thanksgiving has its advantages at that. Take that Thanksgiving I had in 1937, just outside of Phoenix, with some Indians in a grocery store.

The sardines were very good, so were the baked beans and when I was finished I got right up and left, without having to sit and discuss the misfortunes that kept Uncle Charley and Aunt Pet from being with us on this glorious day.

In 1938 I shared Thanksgiving with a congenial group of truck drivers in a cozy beanery just outside of Ft. Wayne, Ind. Not a blessed one of my companions insisted that I take a ride in his new car after dinner. We all paid our bills and scrammed.

Thanksgiving of 1939 found me somewhere around San Francisco, with a late breakfast to carry me through the day. I didn't eat any dinner at all and I was spared having to eat Aunt Gussie's special chow-chow, or Aunt Bessie's pride and joy, her canned green tomatoes, or any of the chocolate pie that Cousin Dell had brought with her.

But perhaps this is all a bunch of sour grapes of wrath at the thought of a hamburger Thanksgiving.

* * *

Listen, Cousin Dell, I was only kidding. Save me a piece of that chocolate pie; tuck away a drumstick for me. I'll try to make it home by Jefferson Davis day.

Grid Official Admits Error

Head Linesman Says Irish Given Undeserved Yardage.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—An officiating error which gave nine undeserved yards to Notre Dame in the Navy game at Baltimore, Nov. 9, has been admitted by Head Linesman Austen Lake, Commissioner Asa Bushnell of the Eastern Collegiate Football association said today.

The mistake occurred during the Irish drive for the winning touchdown in the last few minutes of play. Notre Dame won, 13-7.

The play went something like this: In the fourth period, Navy led 7-6 and Notre Dame put the ball in play on the Middies' 34-yard line, second down and 19 yards to go. Navy was charged with defensive holding, the penalty for which is five yards and first down for the offensive team. But the penalty was inflicted from the 25-yard line, putting the ball on Navy's 20 instead of its 29.

Lake has accepted the full blame for the mistake. In a statement to Bushnell, he said: "The fault was mine and not Referee John R. Trimble's, inasmuch as it was my job to give him exact location of the foul. I must have mistaken the chain stake for the pin-stake.

MICHIGAN PICKS CLAIR

ANN ARBOR, Mich. —(U.P.)— Frank Clair, end from Hamilton, O., was the only Ohio State football player named today by the University of Michigan gridders on their all-opponent team for the past season.

Reserve-Arizona Teachers Prospect for Sun Bowl Game

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A Sun Bowl football game between Arizona State Teachers college and possibly Western Reserve university was in the making today.

A meeting of the Cleveland school's athletics board was called to determine its attitude toward "feelers" preliminary to a formal invitation to the New Year's day game at El Paso, Tex.

The Tempe, Ariz., school accepted its bid last night. The Arizona Teachers played a scoreless tie with Catholic university of Washington, D. C., in the Sun Bowl last Jan. 1.

They were border conference champions again this year and were undefeated but tied by Texas Mines.

Western Reserve won seven games this fall and lost only to Dayton university. Reserve concluded its season Thanksgiving day with a 15-14 victory over Case.

Coach Bill Edwards and his players at Reserve were anxious to take part in the Sun Bowl festivities. Athletics Director Karl Davis made an extensive investigation and reported favorably.

The team could leave here Dec. 28, arrive at El Paso for a day's practice before the game and return here by Jan. 6 so the players would miss no classes.

* * *

Among the supporters of participation by Western Reserve were Seniors Johnny Ries, Dick Booth and Steve Belichick, outstanding backfield men.

Harmon's 309 Yards Against Buckeyes Breaks '39 Record

SEATTLE — (U.P.) — All-America Tom Harmon of Michigan, who one week ago faced the almost hopeless task of gaining 300 yards in one game to match his 1939 yardage total, did that and more, the American football statistical bureau revealed today.

The mighty Harmon ran wild against Ohio State for 309 yards and hung up his moleskins with an eight-game total of 1368 yards, 12 better than last year.

This was the best performance in an eight-game schedule since Whizzer White starred for Colorado.

By virtue of his amazing display, Harmon leaped from eighth to first place in total offense among the nation's backs.

But first place for 1940 appeared likely to go to Creighton's Johnny Knolla who, with one game left, had 1293 yards to his credit.

Knolla was in third place, behind Paul Christman of Missouri, who finished with 1312 yards.

Bill Sewell of Washington State college, in fifth and one game to go, also had a slight chance to overtake Harmon.

* * *

Sewell topped the passing department again with 80 completions although Christman's passing yardage of 1131 yards was the best since Davey O'Brien played for Texas Christian.

ENGINEERS TO TRAIN WORKERS

Emergency Program Planned To Fill Industrial Need For Skilled Labor.

DETROIT —(U.P.)— A nationwide emergency training program to fill industry's needs for skilled workers will be started under sponsorship of the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Industrial firms, educational groups, state and federal agencies and municipal and county governments will be asked to cooperate in providing mechanics, tool and die designers, and tool engineers for the national defense program.

The society plans also to recommend a new four-year high school and a college course to prevent possible future shortages of technical workers.

Complete plans for the emergency training program will be available in a few weeks., the society said. It will include an "upgrading" project whereby workers, some with experience, will be taught more complicated jobs in from three to six weeks.

Local administrations will be asked to provide school buildings for classes: industry, shop equipment and instructors; and government bodies, any necessary funds.

An advisory committee with representatives from all cooperating agencies would direct the program. Trainees would serve as apprentices in private industrial plants for a short time after completing their courses.

TIRED, NERVOUS PEOPLE MAY HAVE SIMPLE ANEMIA

Simple Anemia (deficient quality of the blood) develops so gradually, in many people that their blood is greatly impaired before they realize what is the matter.

Without enough hemoglobin to carry a plentiful supply of oxygen and other essential materials, your blood slowly reduces your body into an apathetic state. The physical resistance of such a body is lowered, making us more susceptible to disease.

Fortunately, there is a simple way to fight simple Anemia—with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They contain iron which helps build up your red blood cells which have to carry vital, life-saving oxygen and other essentials from your lungs to every part of your body.

If you look pale, always feel tired, are easily upset and seem generally run-down as a result of simple Anemia, try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Don't let simple Anemia get a stranglehold on you. But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Williams Pink Pills

'KISSING BUG' FOUND GUILTY

Insect Discovered Carrier of Sleeping Sickness By Kansas Doctors.

MANHATTAN, Kans.—(U.P.)—Dr. C. H. Kitselman and Dr. R. C. Smith of the Kansas State college faculty have discovered a carrier of sleeping sickness, a disease which has been killing horses in the Middle West since 1912.

The carrier was the assassin bug, commonly called the "kissing bug."

Kistelman and Smith noted spread of sleeping sickness ended abruptly after the first killing frost. They suspected some blood-sucking insect.

A check on mosquitoes brought no results. They next tried the assassin bug, which feeds on animals at night and hides by day.

They found 50 per cent of the assassin bugs taken from a pasture where horses were infected were carriers of the disease virus. Subsequent tests brought the same results.

"It is the most encouraging lead toward the solution of the disease yet discovered," Kitselman said. "However, we have yet to determine whether the assassin bug is the true carrier or a mere vector of the disease."

Sleeping sickness developed in the Middle West in 1912. Since 1934 the disease has become more severe and losses greater.

While a recently discovered vaccine has curtailed deaths, the manner in which the disease was spread was not previously known.

The gorilla is the largest and fiercest of the anthropoid apes.

100TH CLASS

ANN ARBOR —(INS)— The class of 1944 will be the 100th class to graduate from the University of Michigan. If candidates for admission today believe entrance requirements are high they should recall that in 1841 it was necessary to pass examinations on Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacob's or Felton's Greek Reader, Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar, and Sophocles' Greek Grammar, as well as English grammar, geography, and arithmetic through simple equations.

THEATERS

Dulcy—Comedian.

Ann Sothern brings laughs to the audiences who see "Dulcy," showing at the Ohio through Friday. The film outlines the exploits of a modern young woman who has good ideas but whose faculty for running other people's affairs get them as well as herself into hilarious difficulties. Her leading man is Ian Hunter. Roland Young, always a favorite, has the role of the nervous airplane magnate.

Airline Rivals.

The fast-moving action in "Charter Pilot," which is showing Friday only at the Madison, starts in New York and swings down to Honduras. The story revolves around a fight between rival airlines and a thrilling climax comes when a pilot's life is endangered when his vitally necessary oxygen tanks are filled with poison gas. Lloyd Nolan and Lynn Bari are co-starred with Arleen Whelan in the supporting cast. On the stage tonight is the last presentation of "Hollywood Hotel Revue."

Comedy and Western Thrills.

With mirth and melody predominating Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood are co-starred with Shirley Temple in the picture "Young People," coming Friday to the Ritz. The unusual story deals with troupers, Jack, Charlotte and Shirley, who decide to retire from the stage in a small New England town. Co-feature is "The Gay Caballero" with Cesar Romero in the leading role. This in an exciting story dealing with his rescue of a fair maiden and her father.

Leon Errol Objects.

At the Park is "Pop Always Pays" starring Leon Errol. The foundation of the story are the efforts of a young couple to circumvent the girl's father's objections to their marriage. Others in the cast are Marjorie Gateson, Tom Kennedy, Adele Pearce and Dennis O'Keefe. Second attraction is "The Range Busters," with Max Terhune, John King and Ray Corrigan in the leads.

Fourth of Series.

"Dr. Kildare's Strange Case," fourth in the popular "Dr. Kildare" series, again revolves around the activities of the young intern, Dr. Jim Gillespie, his gruff but kindly superior, Dr. Leonard Gillespie, and the nurse with whom he is in love, Mary Lamont. Those respective roles are taken by Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore and Laraine Day. Co-feature is the exciting western, "Triple Justice" starring George O'Brien and Virginia Vale. These are at the Majestic beginning Friday.

CLIMBS FOR SPEECH.

WEST PLAINS, Mo. —(U.P.)— When Rep. Dewey Short, R., came here for a campaign speech the crowd was so great he couldn't get into the courthouse. He finally reached the building and had a bystander bring him a ladder and he climbed into the second floor window of the circuit courtroom. The speech went on as scheduled.

Get Right After Miseries of Colds

THIS IMPROVED VICKS WAY

If you are suffering with a mean cold—get after discomforts and misery the improved Vicks way—with a "VapoRub Massage". Then notice how fast relief comes.

With this MORE THOROUGH treatment (perfected by Vicks staff of Doctors) the poultice-and-vapor action of Vicks VapoRub more effectively...

PENETRATES irritated air passages with soothing medicinal vapors, inhaled deeply with every breath.

STIMULATES chest and back like an old-fashioned warming poultice or plaster.

TO GET a "VapoRub Massage" with all its benefits—massage VapoRub for 3 minutes on IMPORTANT RIB-AREA OF BACK as well as the throat and chest—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

When you see—and enjoy—the results of this "VapoRub Massage" treatment you should understand why so many folks now depend on it to relieve misery—ease bronchial irritation and coughing, help break up local congestion in upper air passages, relieve muscular soreness and tightness.

REMEMBER THIS... Be sure to use time-tested Vicks VapoRub—the same Vicks VapoRub that is today a family standby in millions of homes.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

HAVANA — (INS) — Thousands of letters are being held in post offices throughout Cuba pending their return to senders who overlooked the fact that the rate has been raised from two to three cents for ordinary mail within the Republic and to nations in the postal union. The increase is designed to aid in servicing the recently approved $50,000,000 loan now being sought in the United States.

SCHROON LAKE, N. Y. —(INS)—Undaunted by the attack of his vicious opponent, a mink clung tenaciously to a bobcat here while William Wells of Schroon Lake killed the tawny animal which had attempted an invasion of his mink farm. When Wells put an end to the bobcat he found one of his mink courageously holding fast to the leg of the invader.

Temple University Students Win In Quiz Contest.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A Temple university student team downed faculty representatives, 61-57, in a campus quick contest.

The faculty was represented by the university librarian, the director of dramatics, an English instructor and a professor of German, who dropped most of their points on—literary questions.

102ND BIRTHDAY

ITHACA, N. Y. —(INS)— Edgar A Eddy of Enfield, N. Y., has just celebrated his 102nd birthday. He has four children, five grandchildren, and eight great grandchildren. He still uses tobacco for smoking and chewing.

Principal Bans Steel Plates on Student's Shoes

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Quite a furore was created recently at Soldan High school at St. Louis by protests about students who wore steel plates on the heels and toes of their shoes to keep them from wearing down.

They made so much noise walking through corridors and classrooms that school authorities requested the students not to wear the plates in the school building.

At least one student protested the ban as "undemocratic." . . .

H. P. Stillwagen, principal of the school, denied any strict orders had been issued. He said that when several hundred students came to school wearing steel shoe plates, the clatter could be heard "the full length of the building."

"We courteously requested the students not to wear the plates," he said.

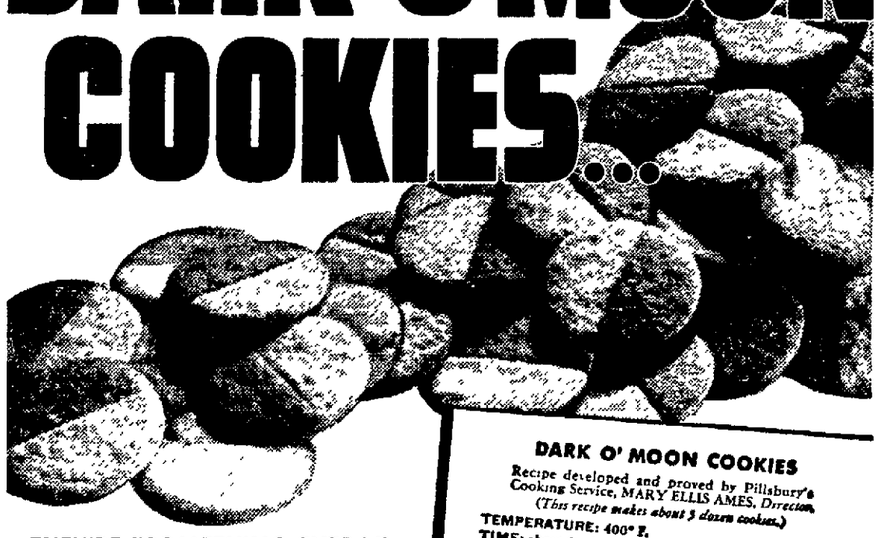
DARK O'MOON COOKIES



THEY'RE "SOMETHING EXTRA!"

And . . . they have an "extra something" if they're made with Pillsbury's Best!

Perhaps you've wondered what that "extra something" is in Pillsbury's Best Flour that makes everything you bake so appealing in appearance, so light and delicate, so rich in flavor.

That "extra something" is the thousands of dollars extra Pillsbury pays every year for the finest wheats grown in America—plus the extra care and skill that go into the milling of Pillsbury's Best Flour. The difference in baking quality is not imaginary—it's real. Try a bag of Pillsbury's Best and see for yourself!

DARK O' MOON COOKIES

Recipe developed and proved by Pillsbury's Cooking Service, MARY ELLIS AMES, Director.
(This recipe makes about 5 dozen cookies.)

TEMPERATURE: 400° F.
TIME: about 8 minutes

2 cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST Flour
1 teaspoon Double Acting baking powder OR 2 teaspoons Single Acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cocoa

1. Sift flour once, measure. Add baking powder and salt; sift together twice.
2. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually; beat until light.
3. Add eggs, one at a time, beating until light and fluffy after each addition. Add flavoring.
4. Add dry ingredients; mix well.
5. Divide dough in half. Add cocoa to one portion; mix well. Chill dough slightly if necessary.
6. Roll out doughs separately to about ⅛-inch thickness on lightly floured board. Cut with floured 2½-inch cooky cutter; cut each cooky in half and fit one dark and one light half together on greased baking sheet.
7. Bake in hot oven.

VALUABLE PREMIUMS: Save the THRIFT STARS which are packed in your bag of Pillsbury's Best Flour, and with other Pillsbury products.
